Series Of Tractor Safety Demos Held This Week At Ag Progress

Without ROPS, Tractor Overturns Kill

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Message to tractor operators: 85 percent of accidental rear overturns result in death.

That was the message delivered by Dr. Tim Pierson, Penn State research associate, to thousands of visitors at Ag Progress Days at the Russell E. Larson Research Center here from Tuesday through Thursday this week.

Visitors to the Ag Progress Days were able to view, at the specially prepared rollover inspection site at the west end of the exhibit grounds, a remotely controlled tractor as it overturned, pinning a mannequin beneath thousands of pounds of steel. The mannequin, with the trade name "Tuff Kelly," was used to show the effects of a rollover on a human operator.

In this case, Tough Kelly was prepared. A special ROPS with an extender bar to protect the demonstration tractor (20 horsepower) was installed. And, just as importantly, Tuff Kelly was wearing his seatbelt.

According to Dennis Murphy, professor of ag engineering at Penn State, those who die don't have a rollover protection structure (ROPS) on their tractor.

Those who do, according to facts supplied by the National Safety Council, survive to tell about it.

In one demonstration, Tuff Kelly was using an improper hitch to remove a (simulated) 6-inch tree stump. When he engaged the gears, the front of the tractor was tilted upward, and overturned. Luckily, the ROPS protected Tuff Kelly from injury.

"If not for the ROPS," said Murphy, "the operator would have been completely crushed by the tractor."

At the Tuesday morning demonstration, about 1,500 visitors were on hand to see the small tractor, specially outfitted with ROPS, make its way onto a 20-degree slope. The site was specially constructed to study the "variables" involved in small side overturns and to show the value of using ROPS in conjunction with a seatbelt, according to Murphy.

While operating on a slope, going at a high rate of speed, and hitting certain obstacles such as rock, groundhog holes, old logs, or other items make a rollover even more likely, according to Pierson.

Murphy said that rear overturns are the single most common type of fatal farm accident.

Improper hitching has lead to a great many rear overturns.

Pierson said a long-term Penn State study will examine tractor safety and how farmers can retrofit ROPS if their tractor isn't outfitted with one.

Many Demonstrations Show The Technical Side Of Farming

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Futuristic farming:

• An automatic tomato picker and separater that can tell the difference between a red and green tomato and harvest 30 tons an hour.

• A manure-slurry injection system that can put about 3,500 gallons of manure slurry (16 percent solids) per acre in the top four inches of soil, but not on the existing cover crop. No odor problem. No manure burn to plants.

These are two of several pieces of new types of farm equipment that were demonstrated Tuesday during the 1994 Penn State Ag Progress Days event held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, in Rockspring.

Whether or not the agricultural community takes to the devices, only time will tell, but that's part of the attraction to some of the displays at Ag Progress Days — the physical demonstration of a machine that someone had envisioned and made come true in the hope that others would see a better tool and want to use it.

It is a strong example of the better mousetrap concept that is the historic drive behind innovation, speculation, and motivation to get things done.

The promise of financial reward has to be included, for without it, it would be difficult to attract investment funding to capitalize the creation of a dream.

But like a science fair, those dis-

Singel Seeks Farmer Votes At Ag Progress

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Lt. Gov. Mark Singel brought his Democratic gubernatorial election campaign to farmers Wednesday with a visit to government/industry day in the activities building at Ag Progress. After the noon luncheon, Singel held a news conference in the Penn State Alumni tent to announce the endorsement of the Singel/Foley ticket by farmers representing 27 counties across Pennsylvania and expounded upon what his adminstration will do for farmers.

"We are here to make a strong commitment so that agriculture will remain Pennsylvania's number one industry," Singel said. "We will do whatever we can at the state level to insure it's vitality."

While recognizing that less than two percent of the people in Pennsylvania are farmers, Singel said the other 98 percent wish they were farmers. "What is happening in Pennsylvania is a model for the rest of the nation," Singel said. "Our farmers are tremendously productive, they feed the urban areas, and they provide the family values and industry that are vital, not only for goods and services, but as a model of a way of life for Pennsylvania."

As acting governor, Singel said he was able to sign into law an extension of the Ag Loan Forgiveness Program to encourage more people to get into farming and to forgive debt when students apply their knowledge and go into ag industry.

He said that the key to any ag program is the secretary of agriculture. "We are proud of Boyd Wolff, who comes to us as a dairy farmer from central Pennsylvania," Singel said. "He has provided a perspective that not only relates to farmers but also to consumer groups.

"So my secretary of agriculture is going to be someone with that kind of expertise and the ability to communicate and to interact with all aspects of our society. He will have my ear as Boyd Wolff does."

Singel listed a number of priori-

National Egg Market

Atlanta, Ga.

Wednesday, August 17, 1994

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged to higher for mediums in the Northeast, and jumbo brown prices were higher in New England. The market tone was steady for the large sizes, and steady to firm for mediums and smalls. Demand covered the full range, and was best into retail features, food service, and vacation areas. Supplies of large and extra-large were adequate or available, and the light sizes were tight to adequate. Brown egg supplies were tight to adequate in the Northeast. Breaking stock supplies were generally adequate for the moderate demand, and prices were mostly unchanged. Spent hen offerings were adequate to fully adequate for the light to fair and sometimes improved demand, and the trade sentiment was mostly steady to instances fully steady.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Thursday, August 18, 1994

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained easy on the short supply of 2.5 pounds sizes; good on the adequate to tight supply of 3 pound sizes, and fair at best on the fully adequate heavier weights. Live supplies were moderate. Weights were heavier than desired at most plants; however, some operations were reduced today partly due to light weights. Processing schedules remained very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 52 to 63 cents. Trade sentiment was steady. Boneless skinless breasts were in excess and slow to clear. Bone-in breasts were ample. Other parts were adequate in fairly good balance.

Northeast Broiler/Fryer Parts

Thursday, August 18, 1994

Trucklot buying interest was generally fair at best. Offerings continued readily available on breast items, irregular but mostly adequate on the balance. Distributive movement varied while retail demand was slow. Trade sentiment was barely steady to weak on white meat, steady to fully steady on dark meat items.

New York & Phila. Frozen Egg Report

Atlanta, Ga.
Tuesday, August 16, 1994

Prices were generally unchanged. The market tone was about steady and cautious. Buyers were tentative, and limited purchases to meet immediate needs only. Floor stocks were at least adequate. Shell egg supplies were adequate from regular sources, and prices were unchanged as the trade sentiment steadied.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, August 17, 1994

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY WHEAT PRICES FINISHED NARROWLY MIXED WITH SLIGHT PRESSURE SEEN AS A CORRECTIVE MOVE TO A STRING OF RECENT HIGHER TRENDS. OPTIMISTIC WHEAT EXPORT OUTLOOK, HOWEVER, LIMITED DECLINES. CORN AND SOYBEAN PRICES WERE MODERATELY HIGHER AMID REPORTS OF DRY CONDITIONS IN PARTS OF THE MIDWEST WHICH COULD HAMPER BUMPER CROP POSSIBILITIES. WHEAT NARROWLY MIXED. CORN 2 TO 3 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 1 TO 5 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 6 TO 7 CENTS HIGHER. WHEAT PRICES HAVE CLIMBED CONSISTENTLY THE PAST FIVE DAYS AND DESPITE CON- TINUED CONCERNS OVER DECREASING WORLD WHEAT PRODUCTION, PRICES SLIPPED LOWER AS A CORRECTIVE MANEUVER. GOOD EXPORT DEMAND CONTINUED TO OFFER SOME SUPPORT. RECENT RAINS REPORTED IN MIDWEST AREAS HAVE BEEN SCATTERED AND MANY AREAS REMAIN DRY. CONCERNS THAT DRY CONDITIONS IN CORN AND ESPECIALLY BEAN CROPS HAVE NOT MATURED ENOUGH TO EXCEED THE EXPECTED HIGH YIELD PROJECTIONS, AS BEANS ARE MADE IN AUGUST, STRENGTHENED PRICES. LIGHT EXPORT DEMAND THIS WEEK ALSO GAVE ADDITIONAL SUPPORT TO PRICES.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

This Week With

AUGUST 22-28, 1994

WOMEN'S EQUALITY DAY, AUGUST 26.

BLACK GOLD?

The first flowing oil well in America, tapped unintentionally in 1818, was considered a nuisance. Martin Beatty was drilling for brine near Monticello, Virginia, when he discovered "the Devil's Tar." Since it was useless to him, he let it flow into the Cumberland River, covering the surface for 35 miles. The oil spill ignited and an enormous fire resulted, destroying the salt works and trees along the banks. Some time later, Edwin Drake of the Seneca Oil Co. first tapped petroleum at its source and was the first person to prove that oil existed in underground reservoirs. On August 27, 1859, Seneca drilled the first commercially successful oil well at Titusville, Pennsylvania in an area known as Oil Creek.

Great opportunities come to all, but many do not know they have met them.

— W. E. Dunning

TIP OF THE WEEK

BY Try freezing stuck-together postage stamps. They'll usually separate easily and still be usable.

EARTHWISE

Many people wash their cars at home to save money and water. But if you use a hose without a shut-off valve, you could be running through up to 150 gallons of water. Down at the local self-serve car wash, you'll use only 5 to 10 gallons. Or, get a shut-off valve for the hose and soap up with a bucket and sponge. Using the hose to simply wet down and rinse off will save about 130 gallons of water.

CANTALOUPE SOUP

1 ripe cantaloupe, peeled, seeded, and cubed
1 quart apricot juice juice of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
dash ground cloves
1 cup sour cream
sprigs of fresh mint for garnish

In a large pot combine cantaloupe, apricot juice, lemon juice, sugar, and spices. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Puree mixture in blender and cool. Beat in sour cream and chill. Serve in chilled bowls garnished with fresh mint.

Makes 6 to 8 servings

OPINION

GATT Initiative Commended

We applaud the momentum growing in the U.S. Senate for a bill to capture agricultural export subsidy reductions required by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) and reinvest them in agricultural programs permitted under the GATT. The bill S. 2312 has gained 22 co-sponsors since being introduced on July 22 by Senator Tom Daschle (D-SD). Thirteen of the 18 Agricultural Committee members are included among the co-sponsors.

The growing support for this bill indicates that Congress is recognizing the need to provide assurances that the cost of the GATT will not fall unfairly on U.S. Agriculture. This bill allows agriculture to maximize the opportunities that the GATT was designed to provide and not put the United States at a competitive disadvantage with other countries. Our competitors intend to use GATT-legal programs, and the United States must be poised to do so as well. These GATT-legal programs include export credit guarantees and foreign market development and promotion. Also allowed are food assistance programs such as The Emergency Food Assistance Program.

Twenty-four food and agricultural groups have joined in a coalition to support this move. They are also pleased that a similar bill in the House of Representatives, H.R. 4675, is also gaining support. It has more than 50 sponsors.

U.S. agriculture is the most productive in the world, and should not be required to pay more of the cost of GATT than its fair share related to the benefits received. We commend Congress for the growing support of the position of most national agricultural organizations.

Now Is The Time

To Test Private Water Supplies

You should test your private water supply at least once a year for bacteria, nitrate, sulfates, total dissolved solids, and pH. This will help you to insure the water your family and animals drink is safe.

There are many laboratories capable of testing your water. Contact the laboratory and they will provide you with a test kit and instructions.

Be sure to follow the instructions carefully to ensure a representative sample and to avoid contamination.

In addition to testing your water yearly, a water test should be done when you drill a new well, changed the pump or plumbing, or notice a change in appearance, taste, or odor of the water.

To Disinfect Wells Properly

Every new well or existing water supply system that has been disrupted for service or repair should be disinfected before it is returned to use.

Water in the well and storage tank should be treated with a strong chlorine solution to destroy disease organisms.

All pipelines and fixtures in the distribution system should be rinsed and flushed with chlorinated water.

The source of chlorine may be ordinary household bleach (about 5.25 per cent available chlorine). You need at least 100 parts per million of chlorine to destroy essentially all waterborne disease organisms.

You may consult a dilution table or use a minimum of one half gallon household beach in wells up to 8 inches in diameter and less than 80 feet of water or one gallon in similar size wells with more than 80 feet of water in the well.

Mix the required amount of bleach in a plastic bucket with a few gallons of water and pour it in the well. For maximum effectiveness, the chlorine must be mixed with the water in the well. This may be accomplished by connecting a hose to a faucet beyond the pressure tank and circulating the water from the tank back into the casing for 15 minutes.

Open each faucet on the distribution line individually until you smell chlorine. Keep this water in the pipeline for at least six hours, then start the pump and flush the system.

For more information on water treatment, contact your local extension office.

To Tighten Fan Belts

This week I was measuring fan output at a poultry farm. It was the first time I had a chance to really evaluate the results of a loose fan belt on fans.

We had seven fans with loose belts. After measuring the cubic feet per minute (cfm) of each fan, the farmer took time to tighten the fan belt on each fan.

We than took a second reading. By tightening the belt, we increased the number of cfm per fan by 25 percent. That was the equivalent of adding two more fans to the house.

A quick look at the fans indicated there was no need to tighten the belts. The fans were running and air was leaving the house. However, by stopping the fans and tightening the belts, the farmer increased the amount of air leaving the house by 25 percent.

This could be a big advantage during hot weather. Take time now to check and service all fans including removing dust, making sure louvers open completely and tightening belts.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHAT'S THE MEANING OF THIS?
August 21, 1994

Background Scripture:
Deuteronomy 6
Devotional Reading:
Deuteronomy 7:6-9, 12

I don't recall that my children ever asked me why we went to church, had family devotions and celebrated various Christian holidays. But, even if they never ask us, I'm certain most, if not all, children wonder about their family religious life. Why do we do this? What's the meaning of it?

So the writer of Deuteronomy gives clear instructions so that parents will know what to answer, "When your son asks you in time to come, 'What is the meaning of the testimonies and the statutes and the ordinances which the Lord our God has commanded you?' then you shall say to your son, 'We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt..." (6:20,21). I've been a guest at several Jewish Seders—the home observance of Passover—and I remember children participating by asking this very question.

Is this just an ancient ritual? No, I think it is also an opportunity for teaching, for passing on the faith from one generation to another. Too often, I'm afraid, our parental religious instruction does not go much beyond telling children what to do and what not to do. We are often remiss in helping our children to understand why.

WHAT GOD HAS DONE

I once heard a little girl ask her father why she had to go to church and the father's reply was: "Because, if you're a member of this family, that's what we do on Sunday mornings." The answer is OK as far as it goes, but it didn't go far enough. What he needed to tell his daughter was why, beyond being a family habit or tradition, "this family" goes to church on a Sunday morning. We need also to tell our children why we pray, read the Bible, and try to live the Christian life. We need to tell and show them what it does for us.

The Hebrew father answered his son's question by telling him what God had done for his people: 'We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt; and the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand; and the Lord showed signs and wonders...against Egypt and against Pharaoh ...before our eyes..." (6:21,22).

Some of the best religious teaching we can do in our homes is to tell our children what the Lord has done for us, individually and as a people. We don't have to be eloquent or exceptionally wise to tell how God has acted in our own lives. So why is it we so seldom talk about these things?

WHAT GOD WANTS DONE

After telling his son what God has done and will do, he goes on to tell his son what God expects of us: "And the Lord commanded us to do all these statutes..." (6:24). Note that the commandments and statutes come only after the remembrance of what God has done. Living his commandments is our response to what he has done. When our children ask us why must we do this or why can't we do that, "because I say so" isn't nearly as satisfactory as "because we are thankful to the Lord for His goodness to us."

There is another clue in this passage as to what lies behind the commandments and statutes: "And the Lord commanded us to do all these statutes...for our good always." We frequently have the wrong idea about God's commandments— they are not for the purpose of restricting us per se or to make him feel better, but for our own good. He requires us to do this or not do that because it is for our own well being in the long run. When we break the commandments, ultimately it is ourselves who suffer the most—lying, stealing, adultery, killing, covetousness and so forth. Even dishonoring our parents hurts us even more than it does them—in the long run. Breaking the commandments breaks down our lives and society as well.

That's why we do these things.

Increase your wheat yield by $26.38 an acre, with Hoffman 89

Penn State Small Grain Trials
Three-Year Performance Summary, 1991-1993

Centre County
	Grain Yield	Bushel Weight	Test Wt. Loss (per acre)	Yield Loss (per acre)	Total Loss (per acre)
Hoffman 89	83 Bu/A	61.9 lb/Bu	-	-	-
Average	74 Bu/A	60.2 lb/Bu	-	$27.00	$27.00
% Advantage	12%	3%
Lancaster County
	Grain Yield	Bushel Weight	Test Wt. Loss (per acre)	Yield Loss (per acre)	Total Loss (per acre)
Hoffman 89	103 Bu/A	59.8 lb/Bu	-	-	-
Average	97 Bu/A	56.6 lb/Bu	$7.76	$18.00	$25.76
% Advantage	6%	6%

A lot of effort and resources go into your growing investment. There's the labor to plant, monitor and harvest your crop. The tremendous investment in land and equipment. And the knowledge and experience you've accumulated over the years.

With all that's riding on your choice, you'll want a wheat variety that will produce for you in the field. And none surpass Hoffman 89.

Superior Test Weights. In three-year trials conducted by Penn State and the University of Maryland, Hoffman 89 registered the top test weight across all locations, in some cases approaching 62 lb/Bu. In Lancaster County trials, its 59.8 lb/Bu performance produced test weight savings of $7.76.

Yield. Superior test weight isn't the only advantage offered by Hoffman 89. In Centre County, it delivered 83 Bu/A—12% above the average. So you'd save $27 per acre using Hoffman 89.

Averaging the results of both trials, you'd earn $26.38 more per acre with Hoffman 89.

Make sure you get the most out of your investment by planting a proven winner — Hoffman 89. Just another way we add value to your seed investment.

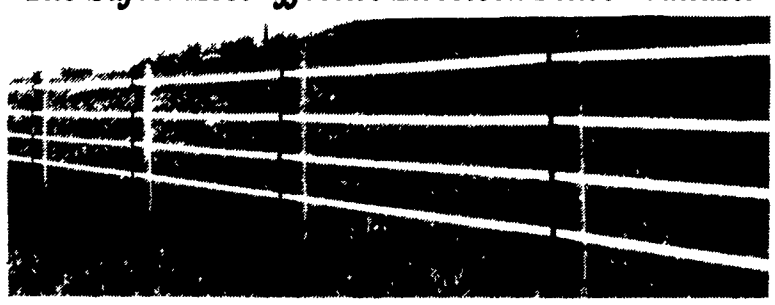
SAFE - FENCE

Poly-Stainless Steel Web Electric Fencing
"The Safest Most Effective Livestock Fence Available"



• Highly Visible • Easy To Install
• Easier To Maintain

Safety & Strength:
At 700 pound breaking strength, Safe-Fence is stronger than wood and most wire products. The high visibility reduces the potential for accidents and since 1982 there has not been one single reported injury.

Appearance and Price:
Safe-Fence offers a practical alternative combining electricity, good looks, low injury potential, easy installation and maintenance at a price three times less than wood and not much more than high tensile wire.

Low Maintenance:
If a person can lift 24 pounds, swing a hammer and turn a small wrench they can install Safe-Fence on any fence post. Considering the most severe accidents or weather, damage is seldom more than a broken insulator or stretched webbing, which can be easily retightened at the tensioner. If the webbing is ever torn it is quickly repaired with the stainless steel splicer.

Buy a little residue. Or a lot.

The new White 445 Chisel Plow makes complying with residue guidelines and requirements easy. Options like rippled coulters and chisel points set at 15" spacing leave lots of residue. Concave coulters and twisted shovels set at 12" spacing leave less residue. And these are just a few of the combinations available.

Our deep-till shank option rips hardpan by tilling 4" to 6" inches deeper than chisel shanks. This reduces compaction problems. And our leveling bar option provides a smoother surface for your next pass.

With nine models, there's a model with the options to match your residue management plans.

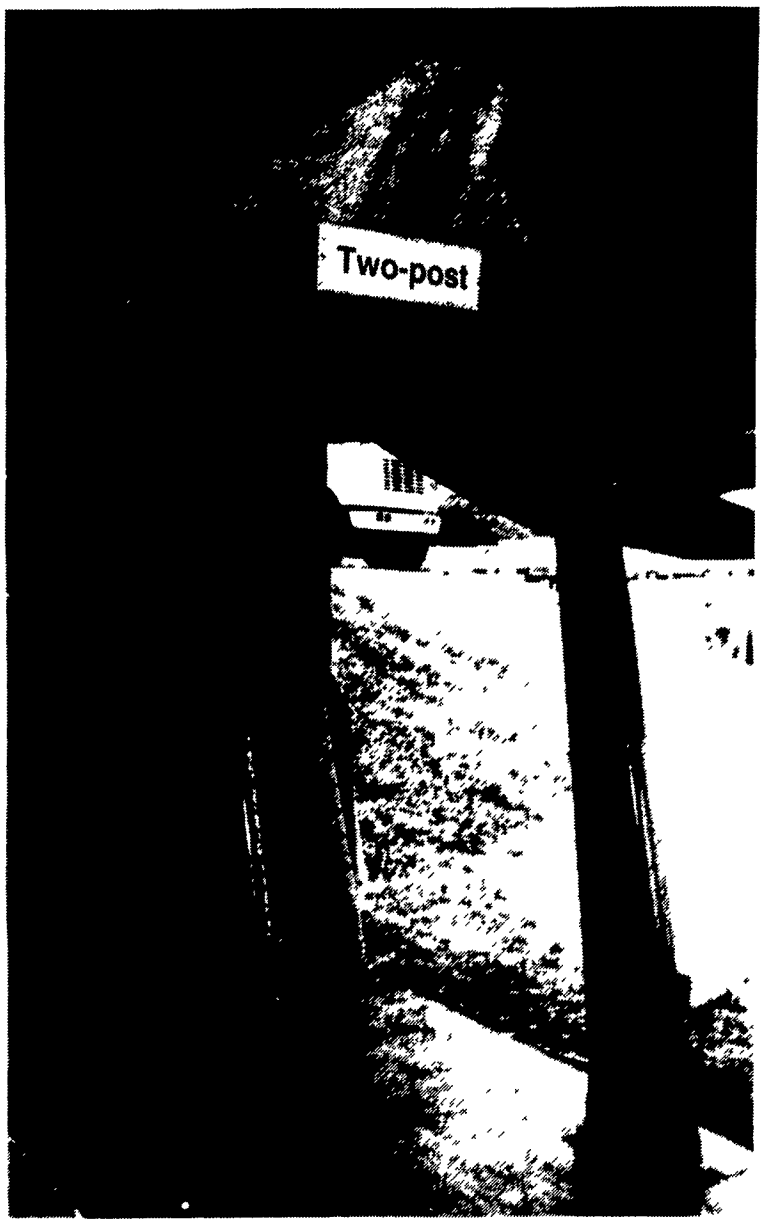
A special ROPS Learning Center, which detailed the type of ROPS different tractors need, also provided the costs of different types of ROPS, including an enclosed cab, a fold-down ROPS, and a fixed two-bar ROPS.

What the study is finding, according to Murphy, is that ROPS — in conjunction with a seatbelt — works to save lives and prevent injury.

"There have been no fatalities, that we know of, with ROPS and a seatbelt," he said. "In fact, in the event of an overturn, (underneath tractor with ROPS and safety belt on) is the safest place to be."



This two-bar ROPS can be used on different types of tractors.

Dr. Tim Pierson, right, with Tuff Kelly.

Value of ROPS
(Rollover Protective Structures)
Without ROPS
actor rollover is the single most ommon FATAL farm accident bout 300-400 people die from ctor rollovers each year
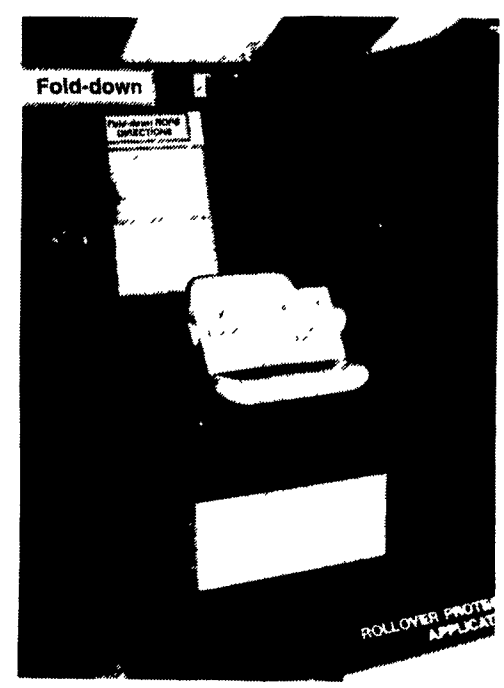
106 persons died in tractor-related accidents between 1985 and 1989 in Pennsylvania. (60% were rollover accidents)
40% of tractor overturns without rollover protection result in death.
HOWEVER
With ROPS
NO operators have died from tracto overturns while properly seat belte in the seat of a tractor with ROPS.
All new tractors sold in the U.S. are sold with "ROPS".

A visitor inspects the Rollover Protection Learning Center at Ag Progress Days.



A fold-down ROPS can be fitted to many types of tractors.

This is the enclosed cab ROPS.

ANDY ANDREWS

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Tuff Kelly almost got it right.

Even though he knew better than to move his tractor onto a slope, especially this slope at 20 degrees, he wore his seatbelt.

His tractor was equipped with a rollover protection structure (ROPS).

Tuff was prepared for the worst.

And in one case, removing that rock from some wooded ground he was clearing, he had to move high. Without thinking, he hitched the chain too high, above the drawbar. Without realizing it, the center of gravity moved higher as he pulled away, tipping the tractor over.

Luckily, the ROPS protected Tuff from death. In fact, he didn't have a bruise!

But Tuff got smart. Next time, he hitched the chain properly. After all, it's tough to re-turn an overturn.

The following series demonstrates what Tuff Kelly went through the day he tried to remove a 6-inch stump. Will Tuff ever learn?

This series of photos from an Ag Progress Days demonstration show Tuff Kelly overturning. If Tuff, a dummy, didn't have a ROPS as he rolled over backward, he could have been killed. Photos by Andy Andrews

New Penn State Facility 'Customized' For Poultry Research

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — You can "customize" your home. You can customize your car. One day, scientists may even be able to customize the egg, in reducing the overall size of the yolk or by finding some way to intercede in the growth of the egg to limit the amount of cholesterol inside the yolk.

Studies of how to make a better bird, and a better egg, are under way in force at the new Penn State Poultry Education and Research Center.

This week, hundreds of visitors to Ag Progress Days were able to see first-hand the inside and out of a the new $6 million center, dedicated in spring this year, to replace an old facility built in the 1930s.

Six buildings make up the facility, measuring 50,000 square feet and designed to conduct "cutting edge" studies in support of the state's $500 million poultry industry. The total area under roof equals about 49,000 square feet, according to Penn State records, with a total bird capacity, if full, of about 15,000 birds.

At the Tuesday morning tour, about 30 visitors, many of them poultry, beef, and dairy farmers, were able to view a great portion of the finished facility and learn about some of the ongoing university research.

Tour guide Dr. Roland Leach, Penn State professor of nutrition and poultry science, said that the university opened the new facility with completely new birds. No birds from the older facility were carried over.

The facility is built with plastic walls and concrete floors that can be easily sanitized and kept clean. Visitors on the tour were required to wear special hats, coats, and boots for biosecurity.

What is unique about the facility is the ability to simulate environmental conditions to conduct studies on growth and performance of turkeys, broilers, and laying hens.

Fundamental Research Building

New incubators in this facility, which comprises a conference room, environmental chambers, hatchery, feed mixing area, battery rooms, surgery suite, laboratory, student housing and manager offices, were custom-ordered from an outfit in England to specifications. The incubators are completely computer-controlled to allow precise measurement and monitoring of temperature and humidity, according to Leach.

This 8,700 square foot building, with a capacity of 1,000 birds, includes a 12-foot by 16-foot environmental chamber which can also be closely controlled and monitored. This precision monitoring is a factor when checking on certain genetic strains of birds and their growth and health under certain types of conditions.

The incubator has customized trays which can turn the eggs until hatching. Total capacity of birds at time of incubation is about 1,800 per case, for a total of about 3,400 birds. According to Leach, the trays can be divided to look at different genetic strains of birds.

The facility contains a small mixing room for small batches of experimental feeds, said Leach. "For our general populations, where nutrition is not a variable, we don't try to mix all our feed," he said. "It's cheaper for us to buy from one of our larger feed manufacturers. But where nutrition is a variable, then we'lll mix our own feed."

One experiment being conducted includes research on trying to reduce the nitrogen and phosphorous in chicken manure using different feed additivies, such as enzymes, to improve utilization of the phosphorous in feed.

Large battery rooms, one measuring 19-foot by 29-foot, and small rooms measuring 13-foot by 16-foot, are used to measure growth rate of the birds, according to Leach. Also included is a special surgical suite with a separate air handling system from the rest of the building.

Meat Bird Building

The meat bird building, measuring 5,700 square feet, is shaped like the letter "H." Each wing has its own storage and change room. One wing could be isolated for starting turkeys. The building, equipped with a laboratory, has the capacity for four bulk bins if different diets are used.

This "customized" building is used to study different strains of genetic stock for peak broiler growth and to study certain product markets.

Ongoing in this facility is a research effort with a major broiler suppliers to look at "the optimum cross of different strains" by certain producers, according to Leach. "As you know, there is a market for fresh-dressed poultry . . . and a big market for breast filets."

The breeding companies are trying to design a bird to sell to the major processors, and processing companies are looking at specific bird genetics "to find out what is optimum for their operation," said Leach.

The building contains four quadrants with 24 research pens each and a laboratory.

Pullet Building

Would it be possible to "customize" an egg — to make an egg yolk smaller per unit size or to substantially reduce the levels of cholesterol per egg? Research conducted in this facility may prove that not only possible, but probable in the years ahead.

The pullet rearing building, measuring 9,000 square feet with a capacity of about 3,600 birds, contains six small floor/cage rooms measuring about 13-foot by 20-foot each. The building contains a laboratory, four large floor/cage rooms (measuring 20- by 20-feet each) equipped with light control and temperature control above ambient. Pullet cages include two decks with a capacity of about 2,000 pullets. Included is a large feed mixing capability with a one-ton capacity horizontal mixer.

The leghorn laying hen, now

(Turn to Page A25)

The 8,700 square foot fundamental research building, with a capacity of 1,000 birds, includes a 12-foot by 16-foot environmental chamber which can also be closely controlled and monitored. Dr. Roland Leach, left, provided a tour of the facility at Ag Progress Days on Tuesday.

This week, hundreds of visitors to Ag Progress Days were able to see first-hand the new $6 million center, dedicated in spring this year, to replace an old facility built in the 1930s. Tour guide on Tuesday morning was Dr. Roland Leach, Penn State professor of nutrition and poultry science, far left in glasses.

Visitors on the tour were required to wear special hats, coats, and boots for biosecurity.

The facility contains a small mixing room for small batches of experimental feeds, said Leach. "For our general populations, where nutrition is not a variable, we don't try to mix all our feed," he said. "It's cheaper for us to buy from one of our larger feed manufacturers. But where nutrition is a variable, then we'lll mix our own feed."

According to Penn State, the new facilities will greatly enhance the abilities of the faculty to conduct both basic and applied studies. The customized units will allow scientists to control or vary environmental conditions in ways that were not possible in the past. Visitors tour, on right, the fundamental research building and, at left, the breeder building.

measuring less than four pounds, is the primary bird in the industry, which can produce nearly 300 eggs per year. Studies are looking into feed utilization, since most of the feed that a hen eats is used to maintain the body, which takes the biggest chunk out of feed costs.

"The amount of feed that actually goes into the egg is a small proportion" of the total bird intake, according to Leach. "So they keep trying to breed these hens smaller and smaller."

Research to minimize phosphorous excretions in layer manure is under way.

"In spite of what you hear in the popular press or some advertisements in the supermarket, nobody has truly come up with a low-cholesterol egg," said Leach. "All you hear about is the bad part of cholesterol — it clogs up your arteries. But cholesterol is a vital part of your body. It's in every cell of your body."

Trying to remove the cholesterol from the egg yolk poses fundamental problems because to make the embryo, cholesterol if vital. Without it, "we'd never be able to perpetuate (the birds)," said Leach. "There is some kind of a happy medium there."

Cage Layer And Turkey Growout

This building, measuring 12,000 square feet with a capacity of about 4,500 birds, will soon be customized with an egg processing room, fully automated.

The building includes six floor pens, a cage layer room for 3,000 hens, laboratory, egg cooler, processing, and storage. Twenty-four turkey growout pens measure 10 turkey growout pens measure 10 square feet each.

Visitors were able to view polts in specially heated conditions to prepare them for growout.

Also, in this building, quail eggs are used to study the difference in cholesterol metabolism in birds.

Breeder Building

The breeder house, measuring about 10,200 square feet, has a capacity of 2,200 birds. Included are large insemination cage rooms for breeders, 48 floor pens, an egg cooler, and a laboratory.

Artificial insemination cages measure 16-inches by 18-inches by 20-inches (females) and 16-inches by 18-inches by 24-inches with perches (males). Total capacity with four rows of cages is about 756 females and 252 males.

Included is an egg cooler for fertile eggs, records lab, computers, and record storage.

Floor pens for single male natural matings can be expanded by partition removal. All are free-standing to allow observations of behavior of the birds for study.

Processing Building

The processing building and shops, measuring 2,800 square feet, include a slaughter room with an overhead door to allow truck backup, a shackle chain, and a picker.

For evisceration, available are stainless steel tables, benches, and cabinets.

Included is a processing lab, walk-in cooler and freezer, supply storage, and a shop and garage.

The entire facility is equipped with diesel auxillary power for backup in the event of electricity failure.

According to Penn State, the new facilities will greatly enhance the abilities of the faculty to conduct both basic and applied studies.

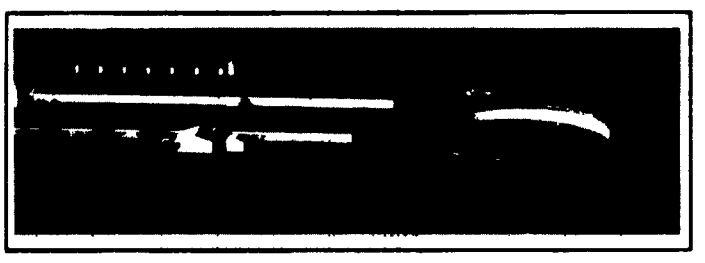
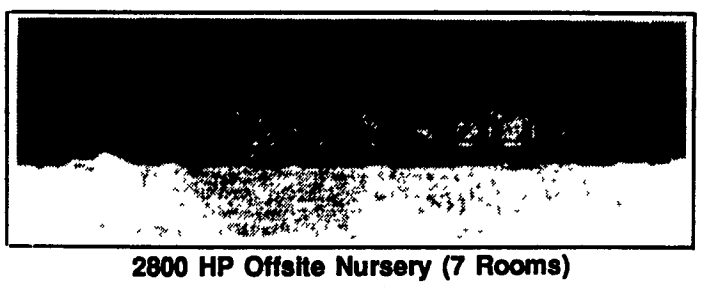
PIG SAVER "DUTCH CRATE"
Developed through testing in our research farms the goal was to develop a crate that nearly eliminates crushing, due to lay ons, unmatched durability and be easy to work around. All this has been achieved by a unique gravity fliprail that forces sows to lie down slowly and using stainless steel for rear doors and legs, proven horizontal and solid steel rod construction. All this at a reasonable cost. Crate also can be installed on an angle.

300 Sow Farrow - Feeder Pig Unit

CONFINEMENT STALLS
Developed in our R&D farm. Our goals were convenience, safety and durability. The low back and flat top rails are easy to reach over with no sharp edges. Stainless steel rear legs and front feet along with solid steel horizontal rods through punched uprights provide the strongest, most durable stall ever produced by Tri-County (21"-24" O.C. x86")

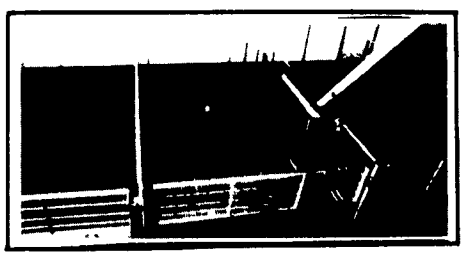


1200 Sow Farrow-Feeder Pig Unit



2800 HP Offsite Nursery (7 Rooms)
(Pull Plug, Preferated Ceiling Ventilated)

NURSERY PENNING
Nursery penning has been improved by the use of an optional solid stainless steel panel on the front gates which keeps walkways clean. Stainless steel feet on penning eliminate corrosion where penning attaches to the floor. Stainless steel drinker pipes & mounting brackets also increase durability.



2000 Head Finisher (2 Rooms)
(Deep Pit, Tunnel Ventilated)

FINISHING PENNING
Standard stainless steel feet and fasteners offer improved durability over other similar types of penning. Loop and flapper latch arrangement eliminates the use of drop pins. Stainless steel fence line feeders provide excellent durability and a minimum of waste.

playing wares at Ag Progress Days are not permitted to sell anything, just educate, demonstrate and display ... and discuss the possible benefits that could come with making a purchase.

The Ireland-built, slurry-injection rig was demonstrated because it could have practical applications for those faced with odor problems and manure spreading in connection with manure management and dealing with the growing problems of a growing human population.

But the other possible benefits of being able to get the nutrient-carrying slurry to the upper root zone include better use of the nutrients and moisture.

George Reed, United Kingdom representative for Greentrac Ltd., based in Antrim, Ireland, gave a demonstration of one of the forms of the system, using liquid hog manure, which is perhaps a redundancy.

The rig that Reed presented consisted of a tractor with a three-point PTO, a tanker containing the slurry, and the injector system.

According to Reed, the tanker is not a necessity. Using a tractor and either of two extended hose systems — an umbellical to another independent tanker, or a reel-hose system to a manure pit — the injector can be mounted directly to a tractor, although additional weight is added to the injector so that soil penetration is accomplished.

The concept of the system is simple: Using blades and knives to cut into the soil, a thin (up to a 4-inches deep) slice is made into the ground, into which the slurry flows.

The rate of slurry flow is controlled by two methods, tractor speed and by the use of flow-restricting cones which are placed in line from the tube coming from the tanker.

Generally, Reed said the rate of application can be roughly calculated using a rule of thumb that, for every inch of slurry injected into a slit, 1,000 gallons per acre is being applied.

The manufacturer's recommended maximum application rate is 4,500 gallons per acre, though application rates should be based on existing field conditions. Reed stressed that the injector was not designed as a means for "dumping" manure, but rather for making better applications and reducing odor and the losses associated with more common means of dispersal.

Such losses with surface applications include moisture, nutrient volatization and plant loss or pasture-use loss.

With the injector, except for the slits into the surface of the earth and a very faint odor at a very close distance, there was little evidence that manure was applied.

The injector model Reed demonstrated consisted of six pairs of independent sets of discs and blades, for a total of twelve, across a width of 8.23 feet.

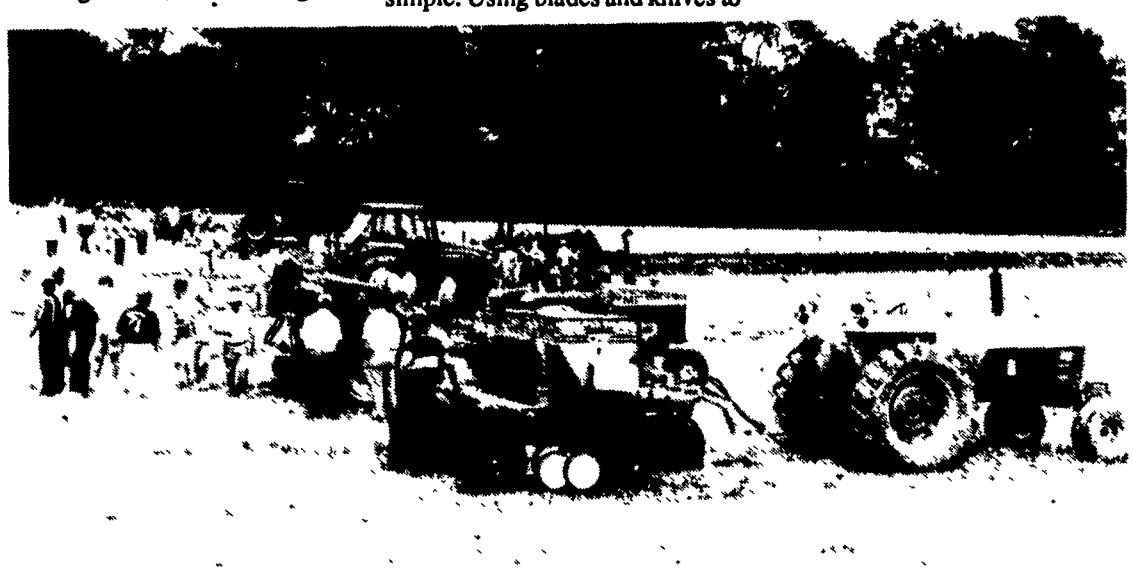
From the slurry tanker, a single hose pumps the slurry into a distribution head, which works similar to the function of an electrical distributor on a multi-cylinder gas engine, except this distributor puts out slurry.

Inside the distributor head, a "T"-shaped rotor with portals, allows two constant flows of slurry. The are 12 portals around the casing of the distributor head from which tubes connect to each of the 12 knives.

The rotor revolves at a relatively high speed, running off of three-point PTO tractor power, and slurry is sent through the rotor to each of the 12 tubes at equal rates.

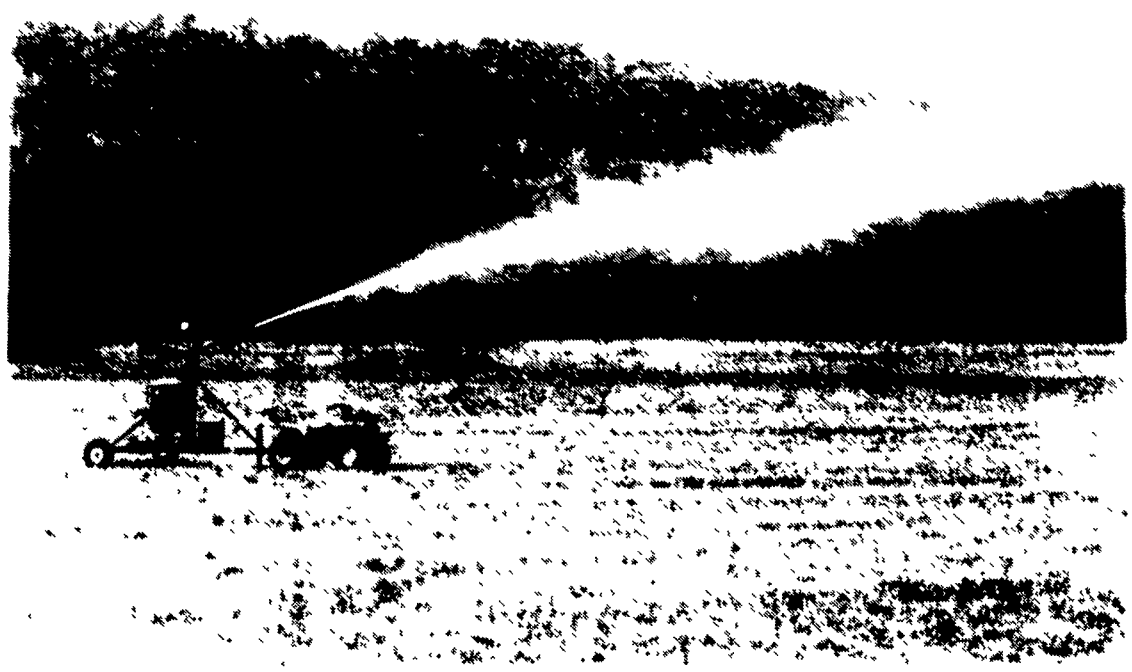
The 16 percent solids capability

(Turn to Page A28)

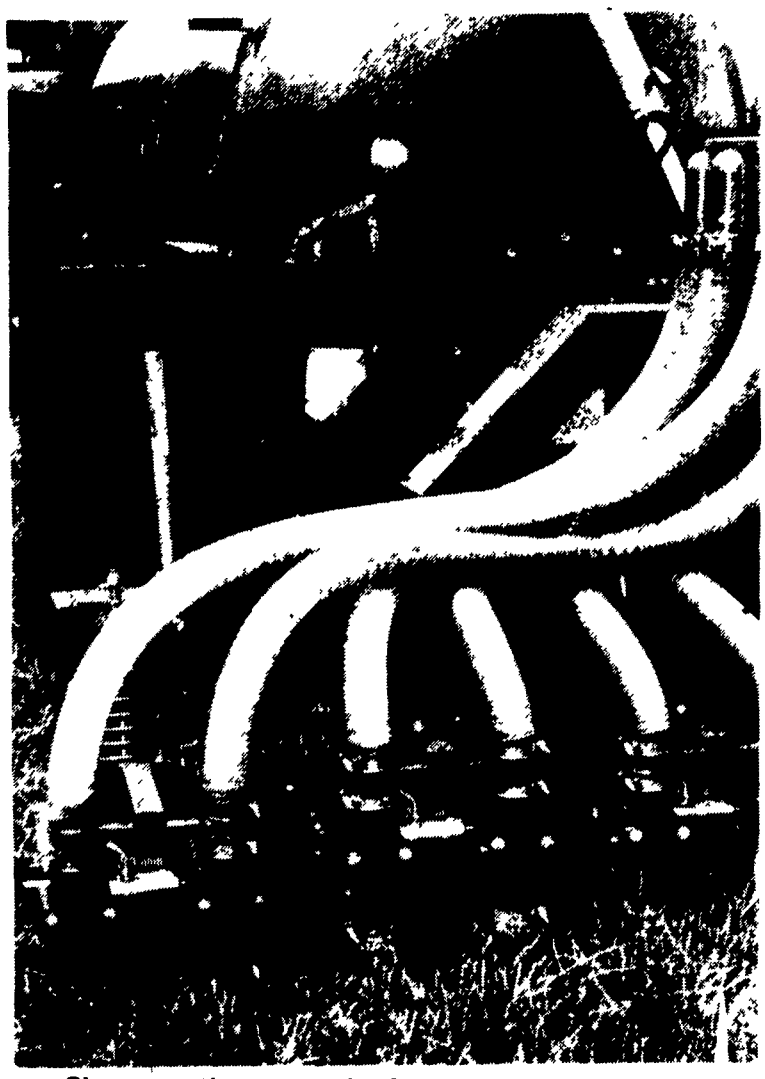


Tillage demonstrations offer farmers a chance to observe different methods.

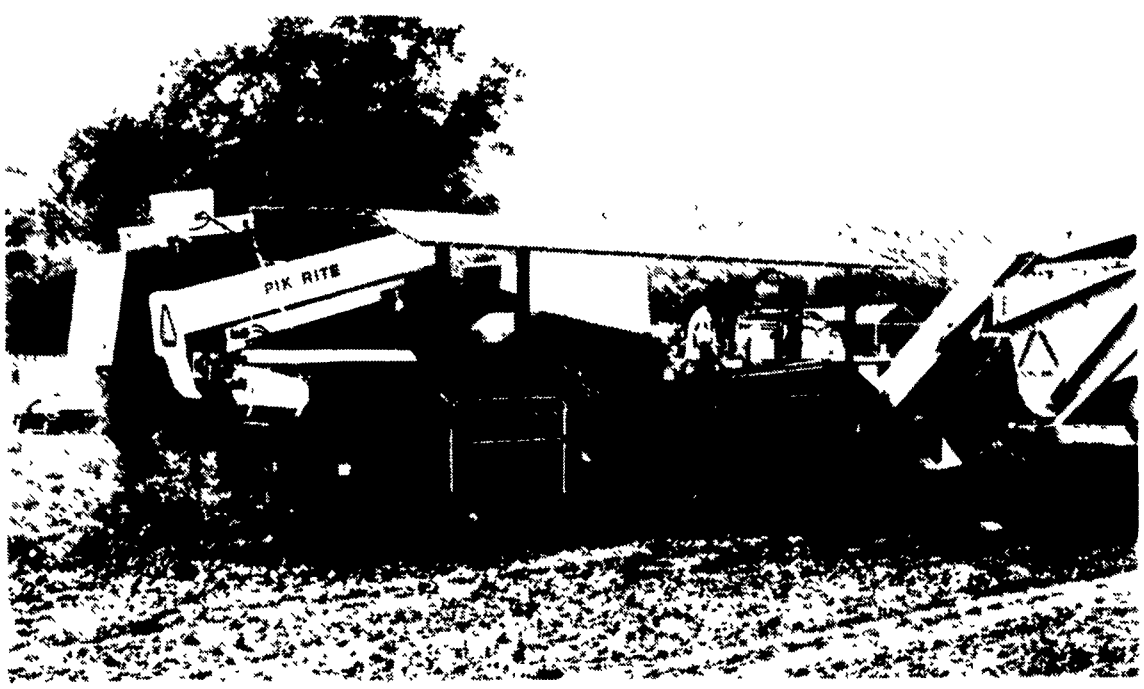
George Reed, representative for an Irish company that manufactures a shallow-injection system for animal manure slurry, measures the depth of a cut into the ground and stands where he had just injected liquid hog manure at a rate of about 3,000 gallons per acre.



A waste water jet spray irrigator kicks off on two-minute intervals sending a stream of water far out into a field.



Shown are three sets of pairs of the actual devices used to shallow-inject slurry into a field with a cover crop. When the unit is lifted from the ground, a hydraulic clamp at the terminal end of each hose shuts off any possibility of dripping manure from escaping.



Although there is room for up to 10 people, one man operates a tomato harvester during a demontration. The harvester is self-leveling, while at the same time, the harvesting head follows the contour of the land. The machine selects between red and green tomatoes and discharges plant waste out of the rear, green tomatoes are ejected out of the side.

Pasture Meetings Set

BLOOMSBURG (Columbia Co.) — Penn State's multicounty extension unit in the central Susquehanna Valley has scheduled the next set of pasture discussion meetings for dairy and livestock producers.

The pasture discussion group meetings are for people interested in improving or intensifying their grazing management. The meetings are held on area farms utilizing intensive grazing programs. Discussion centers on grazing management strategies, successes, and problems.

The next dairy pasture session will be on Friday, August 26 from 10 a.m. to noon at the farm of Jon Ocker near Mifflinburg. Ocker has utilized intensive grazing for several years and is planning to go to seasonal milking. From Rt. 45 in Union County, take Grove Road south (near the Case IH dealer east of Mifflinburg). Continue on Brouse Road, then go right at the stop sign. It is the first farm on the left. Look for the newspaper trailer at the end of the lane.

The next livestock pasture session will be on Wednesday, September 7 from 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. at Forks Farm near Orangeville. This is a beef cow/calf operation owned and managed by John Hopkins. Hopkins has used intensive grazing for several years and is trying to convert some land to pasture with a minimalist approach. Hopkins also puts broilers on pasture after cattle. From Rt. 487 in Columbia County several miles north of Orangeville, turn right at Hickory Joe's Restaurant and go toward Asbury for 1.6 miles and Forks Farm is on the left.

For more information, call Dave Hartman at the Columbia County extension office (717) 784-6660.

of the injector means normal manure solids, according to Reed, not garbage.

However, Reed said that the metal parts of the rotor distribution actually help to break up some of the solids. The rotating parts are protected from wear by a pad, that after wear, occasionally needs to be shimmed out.

The rotory system also needs to be lubricated prior to each day's use. There are lubrication ports for each disc and for other parts that require lubrication.

Another characteristic of the injector system is that each of the six sets of pairs of injectors can move left to right, so that contoured cuts, even circular cuts can be made.

Several people who have been actively following nutrient management efforts at the state level witnessed Tuesday's demonstration. Although not in a position to pass judgement on the equipment, they said the concept may be applicable to some current and conceivably future farming operations in Pennsylvania.

A related piece of machinery was a type of water cannon that also was designed and manufactured in Ireland. Lantz Sourbier, president of Enopcon, Chambersburg, imports the equipment, and discussed it operation. He said it is a pulser jet irrigator that initially was designed as a means for discharging milkhouse waste water out into a field without having to drive into the field and without creating a mess.

He stressed that it is not a slurry irrigator, but a waste water irrigator that can handle the liquid resulting, for example, from a facility that uses a separator to remove solids from manure and then sends the waste water to a lagoon for further settling.

With the jet irrigator, which uses a 3 horsepower Valdor, three-phase (can use single) positive displacement pump.

The irrigator is triggered to fire after pressure reaches 500 psi and a pressure sensitive valve trips open.

According to Sourbier, the machine is not designed to dispose of waste water, but to manage its use. The rate of discharge, based on intermitent firings, is about 660 gallons per hour.

The pump is restricted by temperature also, he said. It is not intended for use in freezing weather. However, its benefits are that it can reach out hundreds of feet, requires little power and little labor and can make use of waste water for irrigation.

The irrigator is portable and the demonstration unit was in tow behind a four-wheel all terrain vehicle. It also comes with 900 feet of hose and is effective up to a maximum of three miles from the source of waste water, depending on slope. He said that a booster pump is necessary after 500 feet of hose is used.

The tomato harvester system demonstration, held in a specially planted field close to the large parking area, drew a larger audience.

Jim Garth, a Penn State extension specialist, was announcer for the demonstration. He said that the equipment demonstration was a joint project between two Pennsylvania agricultural concerns. Pic Rite Inc., of Lewisburg, manufacturer of the harvester, and Furman Foods, of Northumberland County, worked together on the project.

The several-acre field was planted mid-May with tomato variety, Heinz H9478, at a density of 10,500 plants per acre. Two weeks prior to the demonstration, the field was sprayed with ethrol, an agent that induces fruit reddening. Garth said that the timing of the demonstration was about a week prior to what would be considered optimum harvest conditions.

He said they expected to harvest from 32 to 35 tons per acre in the field and the harvested tomatoes were to be taken to Furman's cannery for processing.

The machine was Pic Rite model 190, and weighs 14,000 pounds and can transport from eight to 10 workers. Garth said the harvester can travel up to three miles an hour while harvesting and pick 30 tons of tomatoes per hour.

The machine is outfitted with a self-cotnained hydraulic system, with a four-stage hydraulic pump driven by the tractor PTO.

The machine seemed more on the order of a space vehicle in that it is self-leveling and at the same time, the head of the harvester also flexes to ride smoothly.

The price of the vehicle was estimated to run from $85,000 to $90,000 depending on the options selected.

Garth said that there were four things he wanted the audience to see: the head flexing, the hydraulic sliding tongue, the self leveling, and then a demonstration of the self-leveling while the head flexed, to show that the head follows the contour of the ground.

The demonstration run through the field harvested two rows of tomatoes before shutting down to allow the crowd to come into the field to inspect the machine.

With one man on the harvester, one man driving the tractor pulling the harvester, and another man driving another tractor with a wagon in tow to collect the harvest, the made quick work of the two rows.

As the crew went along the row, the color sorter sent the red tomatos on to a conveyor which unloaded them into the wagon, while at the same time, green tomatoes were sent tumbling out of a side chute and at the same time, the tomato plant residue was discharged out of the back.

Lancaster 4-H Honors Scrapbook Winners At Achievement Night

ANDY ANDREWS

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Ten Lancaster County 4-H'ers were scheduled to receive gold ribbon Baby Blue Book awards Friday night at the annual 4-H Achievement Night at the Farm and Home Center.

Those receiving gold recognition for their project books are, first through third year, Megan Holloway, Kirsten Kauffman, and Ken Cramer; fourth through sixth year, Barb Hall, Carol Hollingsworth, and Samara Shuster-Edelson; and seventh year and up, Kim Lefevre, Kandi Mullen, Lynette Leaman, and Maggie Strausbaugh.

More than 200 4-H'ers and their family and friends, representing more than 60 county clubs, were expected to attend the recognition festivities, according to Zoann Parker, extension 4-H agent.

"This is a prestigious event, to win at the Lancaster County level," said Parker. She said the honor means a lot to those participating, since the 4-H'ers are "competing against their peers."

4-H'ers from across the county participated in the event, which takes into account all their years of membership in the club, from 8 years old through 19. To compete, 4-H'ers are required to keep an extensive record book, also called a scrapbook, of their participation in 4-H events, project record keeping, and indicate the ways in which they have contributed to 4-H and to the community at large.

Parker commends the 4-H'ers who participated in the event. She said that the summer has been typical of a "very, very strange year," with the record number of school days lost because of snow. Because so many schools were open so late in the summer season, Parker said that it was hard to schedule and participate in many activities, and many families had difficulty adjusting.

Lancaster 4-H members who will represent Pennsylvania at the national congress in Florida are Eric Wenger, Mark Tracy, Kirsten Kauffman, Joy Young, Kandi Mullen, and Sara Strickler. Scholarship winners are Jesslyn Oberholtzer, $1,000; Heather Ranck, $1,000; Lynette Leaman, $500; and Mark Leaman, $200.

Forty-four 4-H members traveled to Penn State for the recent 4-H Achievement Days.

Following is a list of 4-H'ers honored.

Horse Training, Composting Demonstrations Part Of Ag Progress

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Educational demonstrations are a large part of the purpose of Penn State Ag Progress Days, held annually at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center, in Rockspring.

Among some of the offerings this year were a horse training clinic and a manure composting demonstration.

The horse training clinic drew a large audience as Ward Studebaker, Penn State University Horse Farm manager, used one of the university horses to demonstrate the basic techniques for establishing communications with a horse and training it to react in a predictable way.

Studebaker talked about and demonstrated the use of his physical presence to "push" a horse, and to allow it to come toward him.

Also, using a rope, he demonstrated how a horse is made calm with materials and how to introduce them to the animal. Further, he demonstrate how a rope is used in conjunction with body movements to nudge a horse into doing something.

Studebaker stressed that the horse learns only through repeated experience and not the whip. He said that while there may be times when a horse may need to be shown firmness by the handler, it is more effective to perform repeated, and consistent simple actions that correspond to specific behaviors in the horse.

He said that the reward for a horse is to be unpressured. For example, Studebaker demonstrated how his walking toward the horse resulted in the horse moving away, a natural horse behavior. Then he demonstrated how when he backed away from the horse and stood, the horse came to him.

Studebaker said horses understand the movement of legs and, without the use of a halter rope or any other means of constraint, he walked the horse around the ring, made it change directions, go away from him and come to him just by Studebaker's own maneuverings in the ring.

While there were many lessons in Studebaker's presentation, he stressed that horses are dangerous to be around, that they all kick and may bite very quickly and that it's more important to be smart with dealing with a horse than by using force.

Other demonstrations at Ag Progress included a composting educational site, where university personnel and USDA Soil Conservation Service staff discussed the basics of turning manure and other waste into a rich, safe soil amendment.

The key is to combine nitrogen from the manure, carbon from plant material (leaves, woody materials or paper) and moisture in proper combination in order to provide a growing environment for areobic bacteria and fungus, which use the carbon and nutrients to create a stable form of the nutrients and materials.

The demonstration site was previously a manure stacking pad that Penn State wanted as a remote site to store manure from its dairy facility.

Later, the university decided to expand the site to compost the manure and constructed a gravel-base pad adjacent to two cement storage structures to use as a composting pad. On display this week were two long windrows of composting material. One windrow was a week old, the other a month and a half old.

Rick Fogal, supervisor with the Pa. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Weights and Measures, displays the bureau's testing wares and answers questions.

Marian Bowlan, coordinator with Pennsylvania's new program Farm Link, distributes information and talks to visitors about keeping farms in farming by helping retiring farmers meet young want-to-be farmers, and helping both understand and develop a relationship that can transfer the farm to the next generation.

George Herd, a PSU Extension staff member, center, talks about the specifics of composting manure to a group of Ag Progress Days visitors.

Tom Calvert, with the USDA SCS, talks electric fencing with visitors to Ag Progress Days.

Ward Studebaker puts a harness on a horse while assistant Brian Egan helps out. Studebaker is giving a demonstration on training and handling horses.

Horse Training

According to staff, it takes about three months to get a decent compost and the compost has to be turned occasionally to keep the microbes thriving. A thermometer is used to monitor the temperature of the compost.

While much of the information is available through printed materials, the hands-on demonstrations provide a better look at the real life applications.

Other demonstrations at Ag Progress were not intended for large audiences, but served large numbers of people over the duration of the event.

A panel of university experts manned a tent devoted to answering public questions about landscaping, lawn care and turf management; another site was manned by Tom Calvert with the USDA SCS who had several types of electric fencing displayed and explained to interested visitors the uses and limitations of each type.

Making a first appearance since 1977, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Weights and Measurements displays its equipment and truck.

The buruea is responsible for certifying the accuracy of any commercial scale in any business in the commonwealth, from a pharmacy, to gas station to the post office, to the dealer of precious metals, according to Rick Fogal, a supervisor for the bureau.

On display was the bureau's standard weights used to certifying scales and its truck, which carries 25,000 pounds of test weights.

The bureau is manned by 14 field people and three supervisors who have a wide and expanding range of responsibilities, such as making sure that milk cartons actually have the amount of milk as claimed on carton, or that cheese packages actually contain as much cheese as claimed.

A more recent responsibility was added to the bureau's in July when it was authorized to start conducting octane testing of gasolines, in addition to ensure that gas pumps actually pump the amount of fuel indicated on the pump.

According to Fogal, the bureau is to begin octane testing as soon as a federal grant comes through which will provide the funds necessary to carry out the duties.

Singel Seeks Votes

ties in his plan for agriculture. They include:

•Reducing farming costs by supporting expansion of Penn State efforts in Integrated Pest Management Techniques to reduce use of chemical pesticides.

•Expanding the food processing industry by promoting greater inter-agency cooperation between DOA and Department of Commerce in promoting the food processing industry.

•Promoting farm product exports by doubling the funding for state export promotion to $1 million to increase the number of trade-shows for agricultural businesses and establishing an export loan guarantee program for companies and farmers seeking foreign market opportunities.

•Promote rural health by supporting legislation for $500,000 to create a farm safety demonstration and education program.

Mark Singel, lieutenant governor, right, expounds on what he will do for farmers if elected governor at a press conference at Ag Progress Days. Boyd Wolff, state agriculture secretary, gave the keynote address at Government/ Industry Day.

In addition, Singel said farmers' mistrust of DER "is not unfounded," and he proposed to separate out of DER the resource development functions. "We are taking a look at moving the development aspects into a different realm, whether into the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Commerce, or somewhere else, remains to be seen," Singel said. "But it is time to protect the environment, but make DER user friendly and practical."

Wolff Keynote Speaker

In the government/industry day program, after Dean Lamartine Hood introduced elected officials and persons from private industry who support Penn State, Secretary Wolff gave the keynote address.

Wolff said that as he looks back on nearly eight years, (He has attended Ag Progress Days every year since his appointment.) the change from dairy farming to becoming a bureaucrat was like a mid-life crisis.

In the past year, two major initiatives have occupied the efforts of the department. The Ag Land Preservation program has now preserved 450 farms with 55,000 acres. He said the development pressures in the '80's were causing the loss of 90,000 acres each year.

And the animal health commission has developed a diagnostic system among PDA's Summerdale Lab., Penn State's lab., and Penn's New Bolton Center Lab. The state budget this year includes $3.6 million, half for Penn State and half for the University of Pennsylvania to finish the facilities to complete this system. When it is up and running, Pennsylvania will have the best animal health support system in the nation.

Wolff announced the addition of 10 counties to CHEMSWEEP, a disposal program that helps farmers get rid of unwanted pesticides. "Through this program, growers can safely dispose of hazardous materials," Wolff said. "We are pleased to administer the program with the cooperation of the Penn State extension offices.

The new counties listed are: Armstrong, Berks, Butler, Chester, Columbia, Erie, Luzerne, Mifflin, Montour, and York counties. These counties selected for cleanup activity in 1995 brings to 32 the number of counties involved in the program.

To date, over 73,000 pounds of pesticides have been collected from the first 13 counties taking part.

Wolff sees several major challenges for agriculture in the coming years. The need to farm without adversely affecting the environment is a major challenge. Many of the farm programs are now tied to conservation with state and federal regulations on how to handle waste.

The new international agreements also pose a challenge. GATT and NAFTA take us into a global economy and a global market.

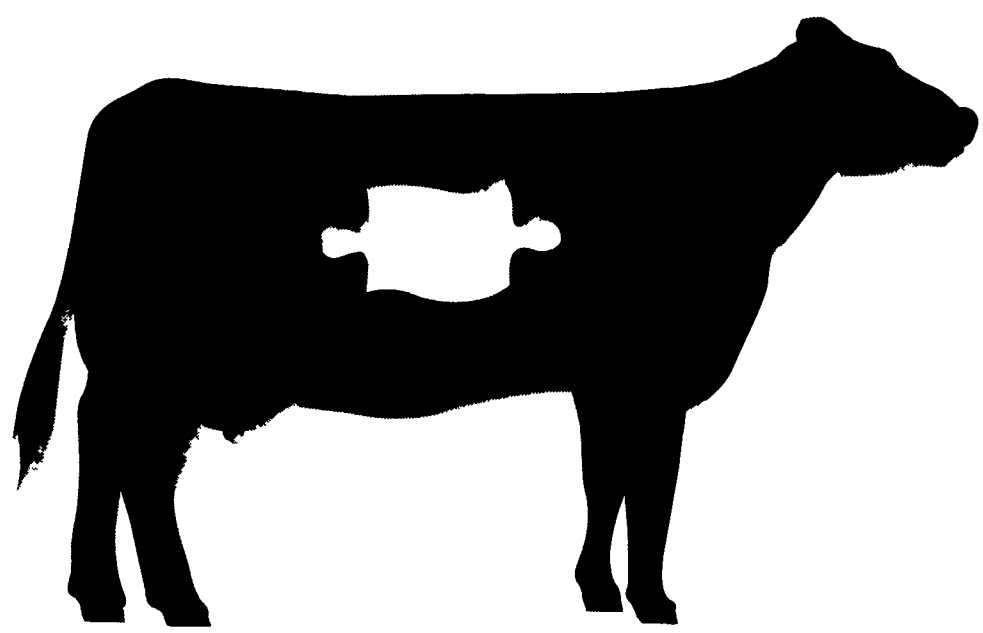
The way we react to technology will also provide the only way to be able to continue to feed the growing population. In addition, it is the most promising way to reduce chemical use.

And and finally, we need consumer outreach.

We need to reach out and tell consumers we have the safest food on earth," Wolff said. "We enjoy the highest standard of living of any country because of the efficiency of our farmers. We need to tell consumers we care about the environment, and we care for our animals. It's in our best interest to do so.

"Since we are less than two percent of the population, farmers need to reach out to those who make public policy so that they have a basic understanding of agriculture. If we do, these policy-makers will be more likely to institute legislation that farmers can live with."

"In spite of these challenges, I'm still optimistic about agriculture. I believe it will continue to be a very important part of our Pennsylvania economy."



Whatever your dairy nutrition program is missing, Crystalyx® has a supplement to fill the gap.

From birth to dry off, Crystalyx brand supplements, available from Agway, plug the nutritional gaps in your dairy production cycle. Mineral-rich Dairy-lyx enhances feed intake and helps prevent lameness throughout the life cycle. Dry Cow for cows already in your herd aids in reducing metabolic disorders and rebreeding problems. Anionic salts and chelated trace minerals in Close-Up Dry Cow help reduce the risk of milk fever and transition stress during pre-calving. To meet the protein and energy needs of your growing heifers, while enhancing growth and performance, choose Replacement Heifer. To improve breeding and appetites during high-stress situations, use Brigade. Crystalyx supplements are a hard, crystallized blend of molasses solids, protein, vitamins and trace minerals. They dissolve slowly with licking, and are naturally self-limiting.

Progress on Wednesday.

This was the second consecutive first-place win for Mrs. Smith at the Ice Cream Churn-Off Contest held annually during Ag Progress Days. It's a family tradition for the Smith family to enter the competition and also the one held at Pennsylvania Farm Show annually. There, too, the Smiths placed first for two years. It's always a different flavor, and it's a challenge to continue to develop new flavors.

Elsie and her husband Dean farm 200 acres and milk 85 cows in Roaring Springs. Almost every Sunday night, their five married children and 10 grandchildren gather on the farm to churn ice cream.

Elsie's reputation for making good ice cream is well known in the community. To accommodate feeding friends and neighbors, the Smiths recently purchased a 20-quart ice cream freezer.

Elsie said that her family always made homemade ice cream too. "But then, we only made it during the winter when we cut ice from the creek," she said.

She remembers the first ice cream parlour that opened in her hometown.

"That was in the '30s, and we thought it was really something," she said.

Elsie said her winning entry, Orange Pineapple, was inspired from tasting that flavor at a local dairy store.

Through trial and error she figured out a similar recipe.

"This is near to theirs but, of course, homemade ice cream always tastes better," she said.

Hand-churning, she believes, develops a better texture ice cream than that made by machine.

Each year, the prize money is used for a family-oriented activity. Last year she rented a go-cart race track for one hour for family members to enjoy. Another year they went to a resort where they ate dinner on a boat.

Although it's always great to win, Elsie said that she feels badly for those who don't win.

"I think about dropping out but the kids won't let me," she said of the churn-off.

Second prize and $150 went to last year's second-place winner Harold and Linda Geise and family from Watsontown. They made Chocolate Praline Ice Cream.

Third prize and $100 went to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neese of Penn Run. Their specialty was Raspberry Fudge Ripple.

Here are the top three recipes.

ORANGE PINEAPPLE

3 cups sugar
6 pasteurized processed eggs
4 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 cups whipping cream
2 cups light cream
1 can evaporated milk
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
Orange-Pineapple Mix*

In a heavy saucepan, heat milk until it scalds. Mix sugar, eggs, cornstarch and salt; stir into milk. Cook until it forms a soft custard. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup cold milk and stir into custard. Let cool.

Add vanilla, evaporated milk, whipping cream, light cream, and orange-pineapple mix. Makes 6 quarts.

*ORANGE PINEAPPLE MIX:

1 can orange juice concentrate (thawed)
1 cup maraschino cherries
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon orange extract
4 tablespoons light cream
20-ounce can crushed pineapple

Mix cornstarch and sugar in water (enough to dissolve). Stir mixture into heated orange juice concentrate and bring to a rolling boil. Add orange extract and light cream. Add a few drops of orange food coloring for extra color. In blender, blend crushed pineapple and maraschino cherries and add to mixture.

RASPBERRY FUDGE RIPPLE

4 cups fresh raspberries
3 cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 small package instant vanilla pudding
1½ pints half and half
1 cup light cream
1 cup Hershey double chocolate fudge topping

Press berries through sieve, add sugar and salt, set aside. Mix pudding and milk. Combine berries, pudding mix, and cream. Freeze until firm. Add fudge topping and turn freezer 12 cranks to mix fudge into contents. Makes 4 quarts.

CHOCOLATE PRALINE ICE CREAM

10 pasteurized processed eggs
4 cups sugar
4 cups milk
3 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 quarts cream
4 ounces semi-sweet chocolate
3-ounces unsweetened chocolate

Coarsely chop chocolate and place in mixing bowl. Bring two cups of cream to boil and pour over the chopped chocolate. Allow to set for a few minutes and then whisk the mixture to mix and combine. In a large non-reactive pan, combine the eggs, sugar, and milk. Cook over moderate heat until mixture coats back of spoon. Remove from heat and add vanilla, remaining cream, and chocolate mixture. Whisk together. Cool mixture well. Place ice cream mixture into ice cream freezer and freeze according to manufacturer's instructions. After mixture has frozen, remove dashers from freezer. With a long knife or spatula, make several holes into the ice cream. Pour the praline sauce into these holes and swirl through the frozen ice cream.

Praline Sauce:

2 cups brown sugar
1 cup half and half
1½ cups chopped pecans
½ cup light corn syrup
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In a small non-reactive saucepan, combine brown sugar, corn syrup, and half and half. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Stir in butter, pecans, and vanilla. Cool mixture.

Chesapeake Bay Program Sign-Ups Open

MIFFLINTOWN (Juniata Co.) — Q. What provides you with the opportunity to better our environment for the future while, at the same time, providing you benefits today?

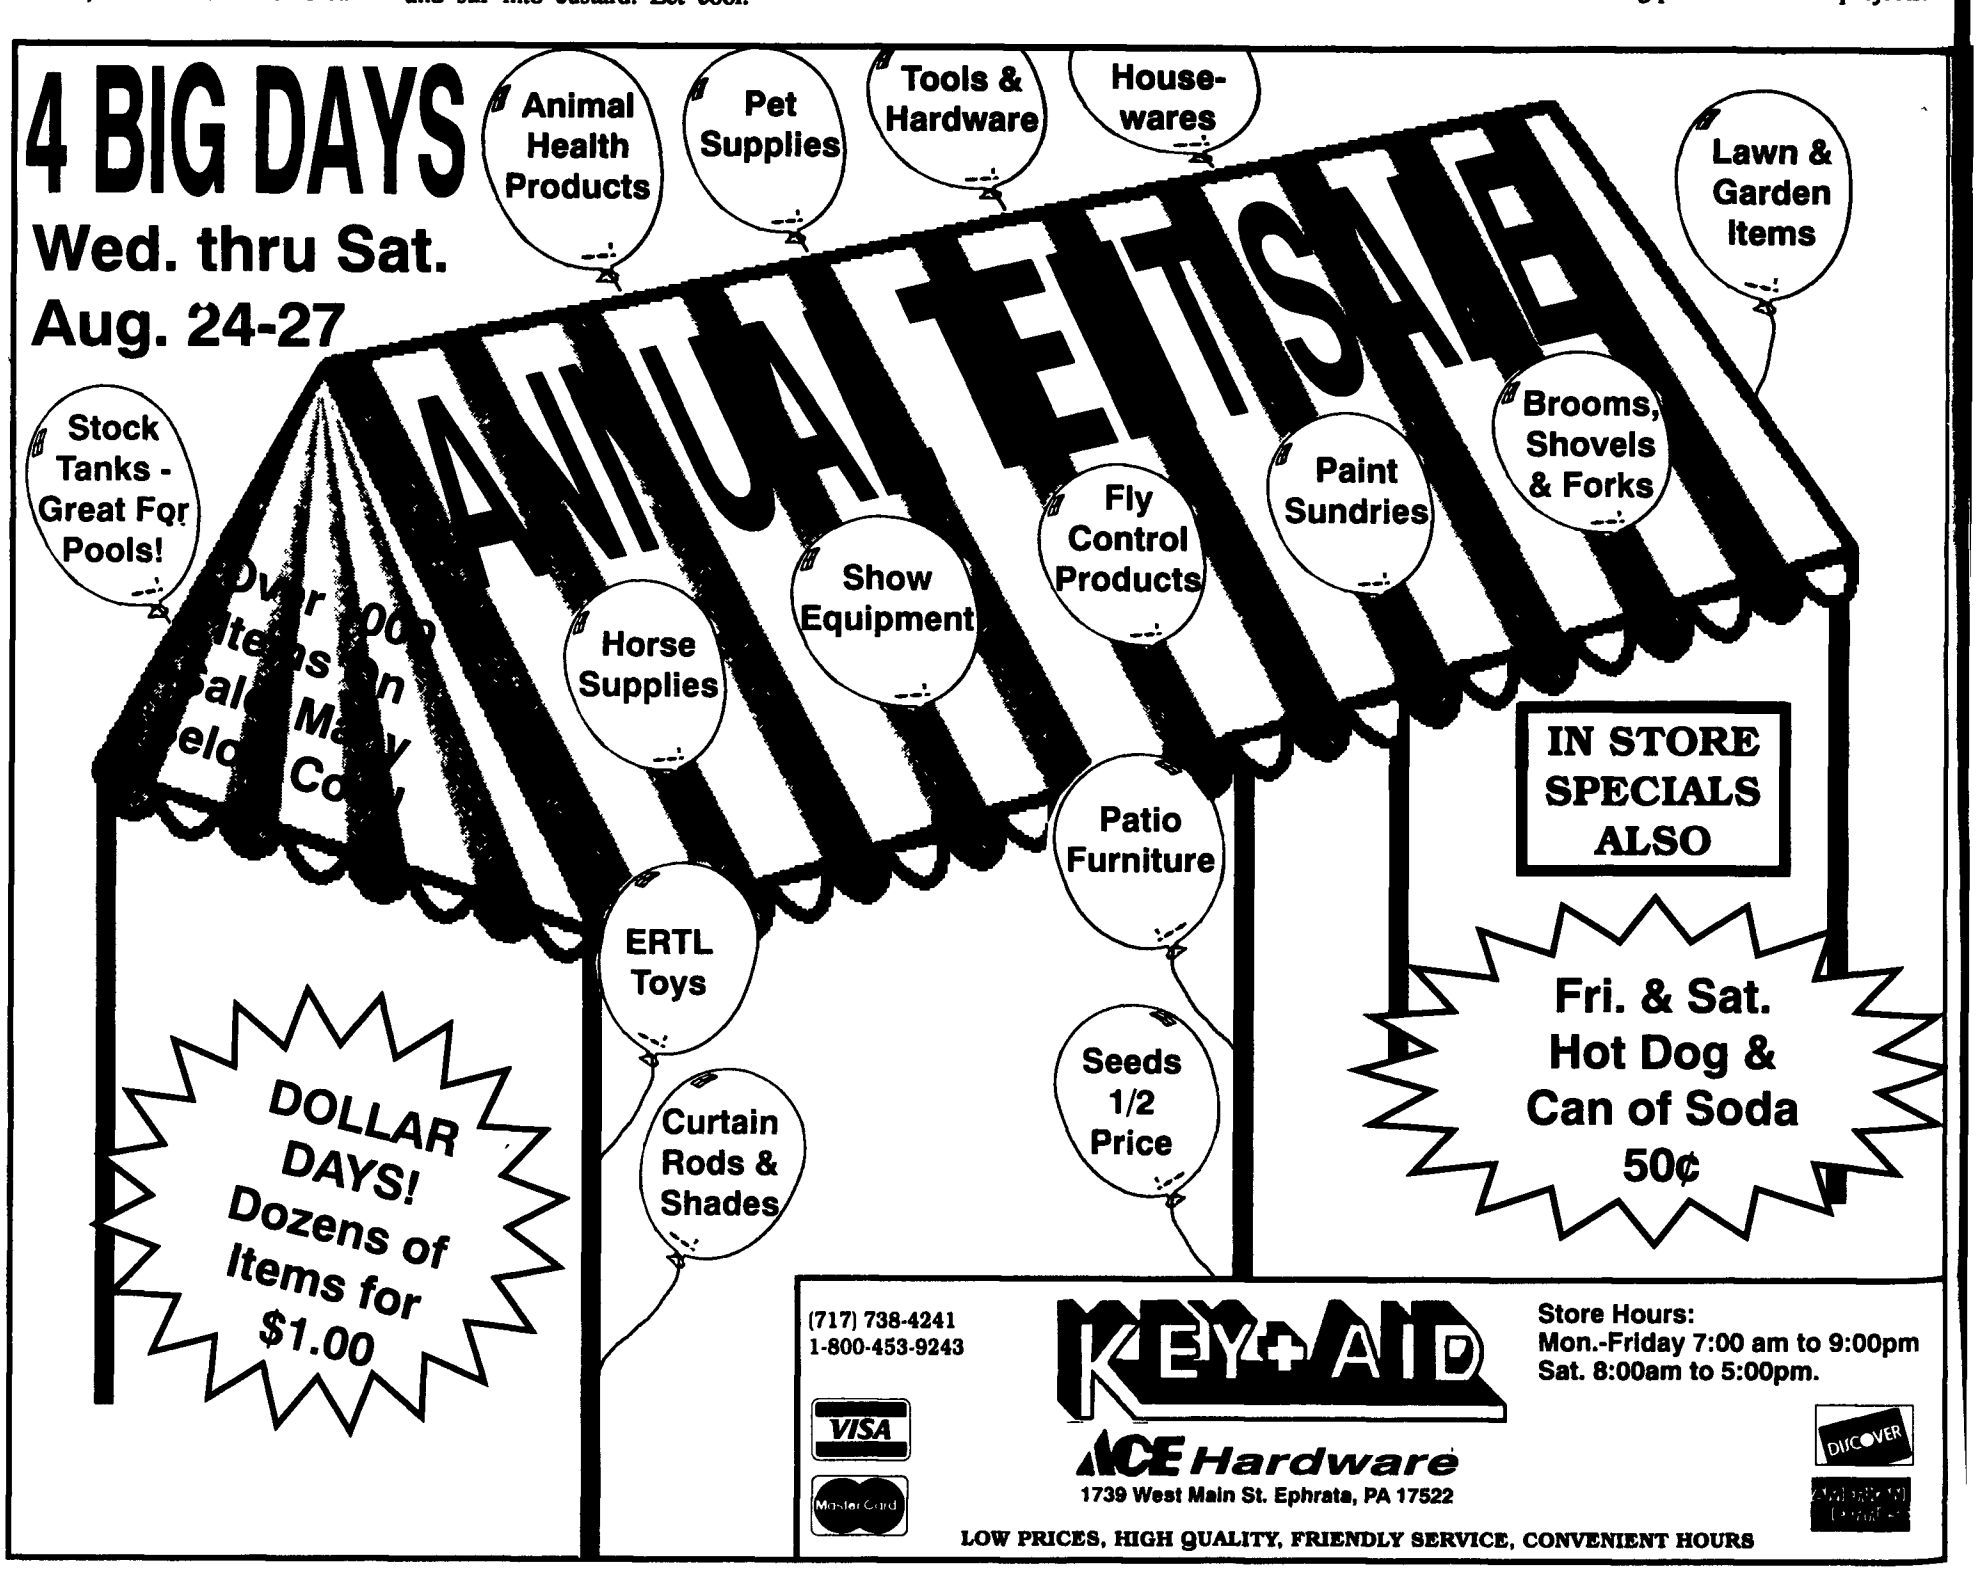
A. The Chesapeaker Bay Program.

This opportunity is available to all Juniata County farmers through the Chesapeake Bay Program and the Juniata County Conservation District. All agricultural operations in Juniata County are eligible to participate in the Chesapeake Bay Cost Share Program.

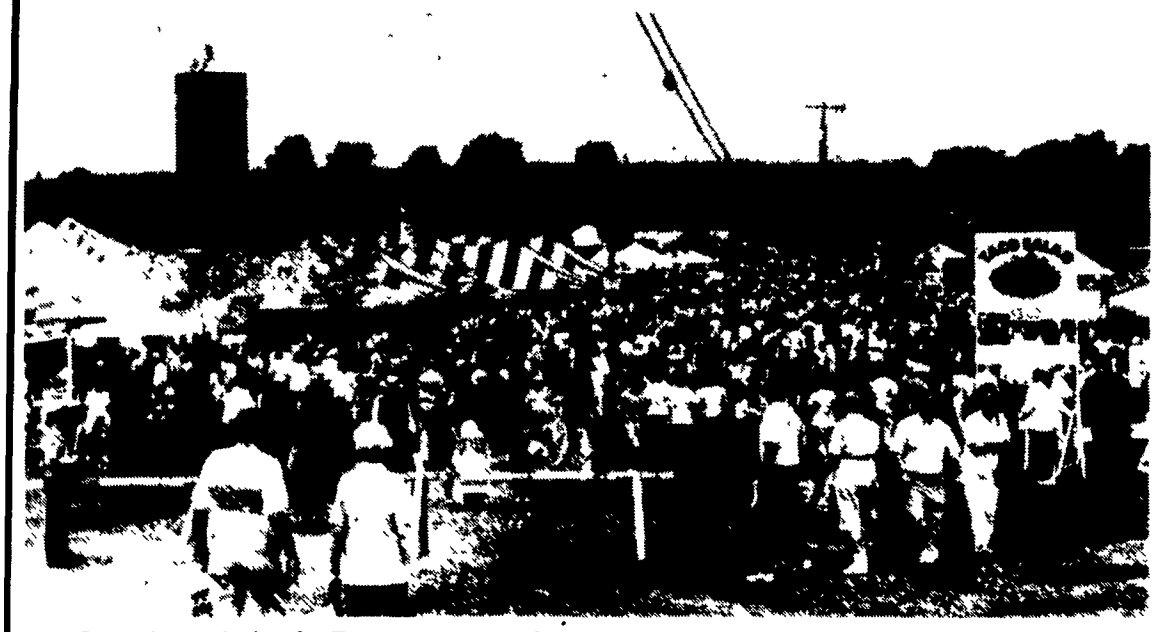
The bay program has approved best management practices (BMPs) that can be installed and cost-shared to reduce soil erosion and nutrient pollution that can potentially affect water quality. By protecting and improving local water quality, we will ultimately improve and protect the quality of the Chesapeake Bay.

Sign-ups for the 1995 Bay Program will be held until Sept. 16. All farmers with interest in participation or questions are encouraged to contact the conservation district so they can be included in the ranking process. Farmers not signing up during this period may not be eligible for funding until 1996, so sign up now.

All those interested in the Chesapeake Bay Program are invited to contact the conservation district, at (717) 436-5155, until September 16 to be included in the ranking process for 1995 projects.



More Scenes From Ag Progress Days



Crowds pack the Ag Progress grounds on Tuesday when ideal weather prevailed.

Although Ag Progress Days is held in summer, it's never too warm to discuss the latest in heating technologies.

Like many others, these two visitors to Ag Progress Days are drawn to displays of snow blowers, apparently with memories of the past winter's record snows.

This group of visitors inspects models of garden equipment among the numerous equipment, machinery and educational displays at Ag Progress Days.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's this week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No. 2y - 2.7 bu. 4.83 cwt.
Wheat, No. 2 - 3.01 bu. 5.02 cwt.
Barley, No. 3 - 1.70 bu. 3.64 cwt.
Oats, No. 2 - 1.40 bu. 4.37 cwt.
Soybeans, No. 1 - 5.66 bu. 9.44 cwt.
Ear Corn 69.24 ton 3.46 cwt.
Alfalfa Hay - 91.75 ton 4.59 cwt.
Mixed Hay - 93.75 ton 4.69 cwt.
Timothy Hay - 99.75 ton 4.99 cwt.

How Does Your Herd Compare?

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — These data are calculated using information pulled from Pennsylvania DHIA's mainframe computer each week. It is a one-week summary representing approximately one-fourth of the herds on test, as they are tested monthly.

These data are valuable from a business management standpoint and can be used for comparing your operations to the averages from about one-fourth of the herds across the state.

High Has Champion Again

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Casey High again showed the grand champion steer at the Lancaster 4-H steer show. High had shown the grand champion at least three previous shows and also showed the chanpion heifer last Friday. He is the 14 year-old son of Larry and Mae High of Lititz.

Brad Linton showed the reserve champion steer.

Of special interest is the showmanship contest, because the prize is a steer for next year's shows. This steer is given to the winner by the Intelligencer Journal. Dale Livengood topped all performers to walk away with the prize.

Delvin Kropf was the reserve grand champion showman and received a $300 check from Lancaster Farming toward the purchase of next year's steer.

Last year's Intell steer winner, Jay Hess, had the champion of the preview show and will head to the Farm Show in January with this steer. Hess' steer was called "right on track to do well at the Farm Show."

As champion showman, Dale Livengood won the Intell steer.

In the steer show, top placings are:

Lightweight - Jay Hess, Ryan Donough, Dean Livengood.

Mediumweight - Peter Hoffines, Jill Hoffines, Jessica Stoltzfus.

Light Heavyweight - John Hess, Deidra Buchen, Cory Simo.

Heavyweight - Casey High, Brad Linton, Delvin Kropf.

Farm Show preview - Jay Hess, Dean Livengood, Denise Bollinger.

AMINOTEK®

HERE'S WHAT THEY'RE SAYING

Bedford Dairy Herd Increases 14 lbs. of Milk on AminoTek... Through Summer Heat Wave!!!

The Grubb's were excited when their herd responded to AminoTek with a 17 lb. milk increase this spring. But when their herd responded with another 14 lb. increase when they started to feed an AminoTek based top dress...and during the hottest June on record, they couldn't believe it.

On their July 6 DHIA test, they had 21 of their 38 cows milking over 70 lbs.. Six were over 110 lbs., three over 120 lbs. and one was over 130 lbs..

Ray Grubb and his herdsman, Wendell Guyer, say that "The Master Mix AminoTek feed program has given us a great economical answer to some problems we were having. We have seen a terrific response in milk production, along with improved breeding and overall herd health.

We also appreciate the thorough service we get from Gene Barefoot, our Master Mix District Sales Manager for Bedford and Blair Counties. He works very close with us and we're really pleased."

AminoTek Helps Rolling Herd Average Increase 5,000 Pounds In 3 Years

"After 3 years on AminoTek, our herd average has gone from 16,000 lbs. milk to 18,000 lbs. milk to over 21,000 lbs. milk. Our tank average has stayed over 80 lbs.. for over 3 months with no BST! This spring we had one cow peak at 149 lbs.. milk!

I'm well pleased with the Dry Cow Program and the PreLact Pellets. Our herd health and reproduction have gotten alot better since switching from a previous mineral program."

Ag Progress Spins Dreams For Farmers And Others

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Dairy farmer Kim Karms finds Ag Progress Days spins a web of wishes for him on his annual pilgrimage to it. As he tours the 500 acres packed with machinery, educational and commercial exhibits, and demonstration plots, he dreams. Dreams of owning the biggest tractor and all the shiny implements that money can buy.

"It's a place to fantasize," his buddy Lynn Chamberlain agrees.

"That's why we come along," Kim's wife Patricia said, "to hold onto the checkbook."

But it's all said in jest, for Patricia and Lynn's wife Genevieve admit to a little bit of dreaming themselves.

The two families traveled from Clearville, Bedford County, with their eight children who range in age from 5 months to 16 years.

They, like thousands of other visitors, find Ag Progress Days offers something for all ages to enjoy.

Many find that one day spent touring the grounds is not enough if they want to take in the equipment demonstrations.

For farmers such as J.Loren Yoder and son Craig, who are fortunate enough to live close by, they return for several visits. The Yoders live in Belleville. They finish the morning milking before the 35-minute drive to Ag Progress Days and then return home for the evening milking.

But some aren't as fortunate to live nearby and find lodging in State College and other nearby places.

It was almost an impossibility for Ann Smith and her husband to find last-minute lodging.

The Smiths traveled from Newville, Cumberland County, to spend three days at Ag Progress. On Tuesday they served at booths for the Farm Bureau Advisory Service. They spent the day talking to visitors about the advantages of Farm Bureau councils. On Wednesday, they were free of responsi-

Close friends from Clearville, Bedford County, enjoy touring Ag Progress together. Lynn and Genieve Chamberlain are on the left with their children Brandon, 16; twins Lyeice and Lynette, 14; Dereck, 12; and Wendell, 5 months. Lyeice is a dairy maid for her county. On the right are Kim and Patricia Karms with children Beth, 10; Sara, 8; and Lee, 4.

Some people come a long distance to visit Ag Progress but few travel as far as Suzanne and children Laura, 13, and Daniel, 10, who came from Spain to visit with grandparents Penn State Extension Director Emeritus Jay Irwin and his wife Betty.

Although strangers, these fellows found they had something in common when they toured the Pasto Agricultural Museum. The 70- to 82-year-old men reminisce how hard thrashing, manure moving, and milking used to be when they were younger. From left, Lee Eisenhart from Wayne County, and George Cullison and Willard Hoff from Manchester, Md.

Animals, ice cream, and tractors entertain the children of Nelson Zimmerman, Crystal, 12; Chad, 9; Andrea, 5; and Alisha, 2. Nelson works with his brother Paul B. Zimmerman, who sell agricultural equipment from their Lititz store.

Stephen Whitehair peers into a microscope while his family looks on. Parents Ken and Mary Ann from Terre Alta, W. Va., say they have been coming to Ag Progress Days for 10 years or more. Since they farm, they like to look at the new equipment to get ideas.

Homestead Notes

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Little did we know we were harboring a bunch of criminals here on the farm.

Mos of them do wear the classic black and white coloration, thought it's scattered in miscellaneous patches across their coats — and not in neat, prison-garb, stripes. And their wide-eyed innocence and affectionate friendliness is completely disarming. You'd certainly never expect criminal-behavior from them.

No, not the cows. The barn cats.

Our barn cats do . . . what barn cats are supposed to do. Catch varmits — mice and rats.

At least they're supposed to do that. What they prefer is milk and catfood handouts and long naps in the hay. They do on occasion perform the classic domestic pest elimination duties, which cats have rendered since the first tamed sabre-toothed tiger nabbed a mouse in the underground digs of cavemen.

What started me worrying about their potential as criminals was a somewhat mind-boggling item I read recently in a newspaper.

It seems that a 69-year-old New Jersey man has been slapped withi rather harsh fines for killing a rat in his gardne — two summonses, each carrying up to six months in jail and a $1,250 fine. The summonses for cruelty were reportedly levied by a humane organization that he called to pick up the carcass after clubbing a tomato-chomping rat with a newspaper-wrapped broom handle.

(READER ALERT: If you don't have a strong stomach — or you are eating lunch — it may be in your best personal interest to discontinue reading this.)

In light of the above fines levied for killing a rat, our cats are in big trouble.

We have at least two cats, Foxy and Pebbles, who spend an increasing amount of time sitting near probable rat holes, on full-scale hunting alert. Both are often in the dairy barn during milking chores, keeping watch near the manure gutters where rats are know to scurry about from time to time.

Neither is quite as good at nabbing the oversized rodents yet as our legendary barn cat hunter, Mama Gray. It became rather commonplace for her to literally reach a paw down through the steel grating over the dairy barn manure gutters and pull up a plump rat that happened to be passing by. Both Foxy and Pebbles trace their ancestry to the now-deceased and truly-missed Mama Gray and may have inherited her hunting finesse.

However, I'm not sure we can afford bail for them, if they did. Even worse, what if they get caught not only killing but in cat-fashion, playfully catching anc chasing their ratty victims as a prelude to the slaughter?

Also, should the death-penalty be considered for the cat which on a regular basis last summer stalked the perimeter of the pond and frequently dines on fresh frog legs? While the frogs were still very much alive.

(Are you totally "grossed out" yet? Believe me, we were the day we found the live frog, missing both its back legs.)

I shall rest uneasy for some period of time through the future, worried that the paddywagon may come and haul away our resident rat catchers on cruelty charges.

Conviction, however, could be a problem.

They generally eat the evidence. Or most of it, anyway.

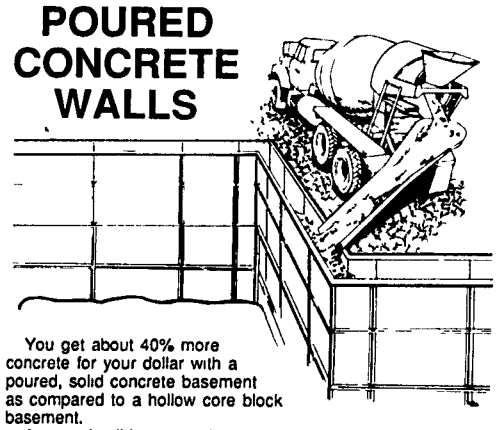
POURED SOLID CONCRETE STORAGE SYSTEM SPECIALISTS

START WITH THE BEST!

POURED CONCRETE WALLS



You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement.

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs. more per cubic foot! Far denser. What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic . there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration.

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced

Solid Concrete For:

- Manure Pit Walls
- Hog House Walls
- Barnyard Walls
- Chicken House Walls
- Retaining Walls
- House Foundation Walls
- Silage Pit Walls
- Cistern Walls

bilities and toured the grounds.

Although many visitors are farmers, some are not. Scott and Sandy Hoover from Spring Grove enjoy visiting with farmer friends Lori and Mike Rancik, who farm Wriglesworth Knob Farm in Clearfield. The Ranciks invited the Hoovers to accompany them on their visit to Ag Progress. The non-farming people found it intriguing to learn so much about agriculture.

Many other non-farming families also find Ag Progress is a great place to bring their families.

"It's educational and gives them a chance to see animals and tractors," one mother from State College said. She brings her children every year.

In addition to the displays, exhibits, and demonstrations, commodity queens and princesses are on hand to answer questions people may have about products.

Pennsylvania Honey Queen Melissa Nicole Swartz served honey ice cream cones and other sweets to visitors. But she was most delighted to talk with the crowds about beekeeping and cooking with honey.

J. Loren Yoder and son Craig, farmers from Belleville, spent two days at Ag Progress inspecting new features on equipment.

An audience gathers to watch a food safety demonstration.

Melissa and her parents Monica and Jerry have 150 colonies of bees that they keep on farms in Berks County and in Florida. Melissa travels to Florida four times a year to extract honey from the Florida hives. They extract clover, orange blossom, wildflower, and buckwheat honey flavors. Clover is Melissa's favorite.

She's quite adept at honey extraction and knows how to examine laying patterns to see if the queen bee is getting too old or too lazy to do her job.

On one occasion, Melissa was stung 20 times. But she isn't complaining. She thinks the venom from stings is actually healthy.

"It's a wonder drug," she said as she told about her father and others who have arthritis. They purposefully get stung once a week to alleviate the pain caused by arthritis.

Melissa, herself, is a runner. She claims that after being stung several times, she feels more energetic and stronger and can "really run."

As Honey Queen, Melissa is delighted to talk to the public about the honey industry. She answered questions from Ag Progress visitors while watching bees at work in a live bee exhibit at the stand.

In a building on the grounds, the Pasto Agricultural Museum displayed more antique farm and home implements this year. Many of them were hands-on that allowed visitors to actually see how the items worked.

For the older generation, the museum brought back memories.

Lee Eisenhart, a farmer from Lake Ariel in Wayne County, was examining a bobsled like the one he remembers from his youth when he overheard Maryland residents George Cullison and Willard Hoff discussing it. Soon the trio were swapping stories on much of the implements and tools displayed.

Eisenhart said, "I spent many hours working a threshing machine like this. It was dusty, dirty, hard work. I didn't enjoy using it as a kid, but now it brings back memories and I think it's kind of fun."

The trio discussed harvesting ice from creeks and milking cows by hand.

And that manure bucket, actually called a litter carrier, that needed to be filled with a shovel and then pushed out and emptied onto the manure pile was the source of many memories of aching muscles.

Cullison said, "Every boy — and girl too — should be made to work on a farm for at least two years. That would take care of all the trouble makers in the country."

Not only have farming implements changed during the past generations but also food preparations.

To test food safety IQ, a Food Safety SciQ was held. Patterned after a television game show, the participants sat on a stage in the College Exhibits Building Theatre, where they were questioned by radio hosts Steve Jones and Jeff Brown.

Ann Smith from Newville

The contestant who first squeezed a horn, was allowed to answer the question.

If the question was wrongly answered, a fog horn sounded. If answered correctly, wild, unbelievable applause from the audience followed.

Multi-choice questions included such ones as what does food irradiation do, what foods used microorganisms, and what is the most dangerous temperature for food storage.

Contestants who were randomly selected as they walked into the room won T-shirts and ice cream coupons.

Food safety demonstrations show proper methods for cooking meats and for sanitizing the kitchen.

Pennsylvania Honey Queen Melissa Nicole Swartz with beekeeper Fisher sell honey, honey ice cream, and other sweet snacks to Ag Progress crowds.

Finger Foods

A table artfully arranged with fresh fruits, vegetables, several varieties of cheese and crackers is not only eye appealing but nutritionally satisfying.

Whether you want to offer one finger food or a tableful, here are new and old favorites from our readers.

RITZ BITS SNACK FOOD

9 cups Ritz Bits
1 cup dry roasted peanuts
½ cup margarine
1 cup sugar
½ cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder

Preheat oven to 250 degrees. Combine crackers and peanuts in a large greased shallow baking pan.

Bring margarine, sugar, and corn syrup to a boil. Cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add vanilla and baking soda. Pour over crackers and nuts, stir well. Bake one hour, stirring every 15 minutes. Remove from oven and immediately pour onto wax paper to cool. Store in an airtight container when cool.

Want a cool and refreshing dessert just in time to make good use of the season's prolific bounty of cantaloupe?

Here is a recipe from MaryElane Fritz of Boothwyn.

She said to reduce the calories, she makes it without the additional whipped cream on top.

Either way, it's a refreshing dessert you're sure to enjoy.

FROZEN CANTALOUPE CREAM

½ cup water
½ cup sugar
½ cup orange juice
4 cups cubed cantaloupe (approximately)
½ cup whipping cream, whipped

Additional whipped cream and grated orange rind for garnish. Combine water, sugar, and orange juice in a small saucepan; bring to a boil, stirring well. Boil 5 minutes, stirring occasionally; set aside to cool. Peel cantaloupe and cut into small cubes. Place in container of electric blender and process until smooth. Pour into a bowl and stir in cooled juice mixture; fold in whipped cream.

Pour cantaloupe mixture into a 10x6x2-inch pan. Freeze 1½ hours or until slushy; remove from freezer and process in blender until smooth. Repeat procedure. Return to freezer and freeze 2 to 3 hours or until firm. Spoon into dessert dishes and garnish with additional whipped cream and orange rind. Yields approximately 6 to 8 servings or 5 cups.

Family Living Focus

Debbie Naumann Lancaster Co. Extension Agent

Choosing a suitable day care program for your infant, toddler, or elementary-age child can be a real challenge. If this is the first time that you have needed to find child care, as it is for my husband and I, you may feel that you're facing one of the most frightening tasks of your life. You are not alone.

With the rise of two-paycheck and single-parent households, child care is in heavier demand than ever before. Parents are desperately seeking places to go to find stable, nurturing, convenient, and affordable child care. What are some of the actions that you can take to find a provider that you and your child will feel comfortable with? Let me share a few ideas for ways that you can begin to explore child care options in your community.

The first step is to consider what types of child care options are available. Child care comes in many forms, ranging from established child care centers to family day care homes, group day care homes, or child care offered by friends and relatives. All forms of care offer their own advantages and disadvantages, so it is important to weigh each option carefully and make a selection based on your own needs.

People and organizations that may be helpful to you in your search for child care include relatives, friends, neighbors, co-workers, churches, schools, YWCA's, parenting groups, health and welfare offices, cooperative extension offices, employment services or local colleges. Other resources may include classified sections in local newspapers or community bulletin boards.

Making the right choice once you have narrowed your options is a very important decision for you and your child. According to Dr. James Van Horn, associate professor of family sociology at Penn State, parents should select a day care program much as they would purchase any other service. They should compare the different services available, visit day care centers while children are there, talk to the employees and check references.

"The last thing a parent should do is make a decision in a rush," Van Horn says. "It's better to make temporary arrangements while you search for a permanent day care program than to place a childs in the first available program."

Some important questions that you may want to ask a potential provider include the following:

- Are you registered with the State or affiliated with an association or agency?
- What kind of experience do you have with children? How long have you been providing care? What sort of training or education do you have?
- How many children are you caring for now and what are their ages? How many children will you care for at any one time?
- What are the hours that you provide care? Are these hours flexible?
- What are your rates? How and when are payments made? Do you pay when your child is sick or when you take a vacation? When are you closed?
- What is the daily schedule? Do children go outside? Is there a nap time? What kinds of educational activities do you provide? Do children watch TV and if so, what programs may they watch?
- Are meals and snacks provided? Can arrangements be made for my child's special feeding needs?
- What is the policy for sick children? Have you had training in First Aid and CPR? Do you have a safety plan to follow in case of emergencies?
- May I visit the home at any time when my child is there? (the answer should be yes).
- How do you discipline children? What are your rules?

In addition to asking questions, observations can be made of the facility or home of the child care provider. Some things to observe include the cleanliness and comfort of the facility, space allocations, safety and age-appropriateness of equipment and toys, and the general organization of the feeding, sleeping, and activity schedules in the home or center. Observations of the caregiver's interactions with children should be observed and child-staff ratios considered. Warning signals should go off immediately for caregivers who appear to be unresponsive to children's needs, easily irritated or overwhelmed by their caregiving responsibilities.

The process of exploring child care options and eventually arriving at a decision about the most appropriate form of care for your child is sure to leave you caught in a rather unpleasant battle of conflicting emotions. Feelings of anticipation about finding a quality provider or about being able to return to work may be mixed with less desirable emotions of doubt, insecurity and guilt over leaving your child in someone else's care. While such emotions are quite normal, your child will experience the best adjustment when you demonstrate confidence in your decision, share a communicative relationship with your caregiver, and make plenty of time to share in quality activities with your child.

While my need for a child care provider will not come until March of next year, I'm prepared to begin exploring my options now. Witih a little advance planning, I'm looking forward to replacing my anxiety and insecurity with confidence and satisfaction in my chosen caregiver.

Farm Women Societies

Lebanon Society 20

Lebanon Farm Women Group #20 met at the home of Christine Williams who read devotions followed by the Lord's prayer and salute to the flag.

The program was about Special Puppies by Sandy Smith and her daughter Alice who brought their dogs. They told about raising and training them for about a year, then giving them back for more training to become Seeing Eye dogs for the blind.

Twelve members answered roll call to the question Do you have a dog? 1 guest attended.

A report was given on the FFA food stand at the fairgrounds.

The county convention will be held at the Quality Inn on Oct. 12.

Vera Gross, Pat Ziegler, Sarah Funck and Mae Stamm helped in the kitchen at the Lebanon Area Fair. Marion Maulfair and Carol Heagy helped in the dairy barn.

The group donated $25 to the Seeing Eye Foundation.

The next meeting will be with Elaine Shuey, program is Bingo Night.

QUESTION — D.J.Long would like recipes for canned soups such as cream of mushroom, cream of celery, cream of chicken, and tomato. She would like to can them in her pressure canner.

ANSWER — Ann Lincoln, Genesee, wanted a recipe for Instarella Mozzarella Cheese. Thanks to a N.Y. reader for sending the recipe.

Instarella Mozzarella

2 gallons milk*
2½ teaspoons citric acid powder
¼ cup cool water
½ teaspoon liquid rennet or ¼ rennet tablet
¼ cup cold water
½ cup coarse canning or kosher salt
1 gallon cold water

Place milk in a large stainless steel or enamel pot. Dissolve the citric acid powder in water. Mix it into the cool milk for 2 minutes until dissolved completely.

Heat the milk to 88 degrees. Dilute the liquid rennet or ¼ rennet tablet in ¼ cup cold water. Stir rennet into milk for 15 to 20 seconds. Then allow the milk to remain still for 12 to 15 minutes while it coagulates.

Cut curd into ½ -inch cubes, using a long-handled knife. After cutting, let curds remain undisturbed for 5 minutes; then place over low heat and stir gently so as to keep curds separated. The curds will shrink somewhat as the whey is expelled from them. Slowly heat curds to 108 degrees. This should take 15 minutes. Using a dairy thermometer to check the temperature. Shut off the heat and continue to stir for an additional 20 minutes.

Separate curds from the whey, either by dipping or pouring them into a colander for 15 minutes.

Cut the curd into strips about 1x1-inches each. Lay strips in criss-cross fashion in a bowl.

Mix canning or kosher salt in 1 gallon cold water and heat to 170 degrees. Add the salt water to the bowl of curd strips so that they are covered by the water.

Using a wooden spoon, begin to stretch curd in an upward motion, much like pulling taffy. The curd will begin to get stringy and will become plastic and shiny. Stretch for about 10 minutes, then place the curd on a board and knead as you would with bread, shaping it into a ball, or place cheese in a mold such as cottage cheese containers. Place cheese, in or out of mold, into cold water until it is cold and firm textured. It is now ready to eat. To store, dry with a paper towel, wrap in plastic wrap, and refrigerate.

Yield 1½ to 2 pounds cheese.

Variation: If you want a salt-free cheese, you can stretch it in 170 degree water without salt.

*Nonhomogenized cow's milk will stretch the best. Since goat's and sheep's milk are by nature homogenized, they won't stretch as well and must be molded with your hands; however, their taste is excellent. They fry well and can be used on pizza. If store-bought milk is used, purchase 2 percent milk.

CHEESE STRAWS

1 cup flour
1½ cups grated sharp white cheese
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
¼ to ½ cup milk

Mix together ingredients in food processor with pastry cutter or with hands. Add milk until it forms a ball. Cover and chill about one hour. Roll out like pie dough. Place on cookie sheet and cut narrow strips with pie wheel. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees until edges are brown; turn and bake a few more minutes. Remove from oven and break into strips when cool.

DRIED BEEF HORS D'OEUVRES

1 jar dried beef
8 ounces cream cheese
½ pint sour cream
2 tablespoons milk
Garlic salt, to taste
Onion flakes, to taste
Pepper, to taste

Cut dried beef into fine pieces. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Sprinkle chopped pecans on top. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve warm on your favorite crackers.

ANSWER — Linda Funk of Mercersburg wanted a recipe for unleavened bread to serve for Communion. Thanks to Mary Lockard, Columbia, for sending a recipe.

Communion Bread

1¼ pound unsalted butter
4 pounds flour

Mix together butter and flour. Add:

¾ quart milk, lukewarm

Knead 20 minutes. Divide into 3 12x15-inch cookie sheets. Roll dough to the edges. Mark into pieces desired and prick each piece with a fork. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Do not overbake.

ANSWER — Nancy Kring, Johnstown, wanted a recipe for Oriental muffins, a spicy muffin with a brown sugar bottom. Thanks to a Geneva, N.Y. reader who sent a recipe. Although it isn't called Oriental muffins, it does have a brown sugar bottom.

Caramel Cinnamon Muffins

3 tablespoons butter
⅔ cup packed brown sugar
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening, melted

Grease muffin pans and place ½ teaspoon butter and 1 teaspoon brown sugar in each cup. Sift together dry ingredients. Combine milk, shortening, and remaining brown sugar with the egg. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only enough to dampen flour. Fill prepared muffin pans ¾ full and bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 18 muffins.

ANSWER — For Phyllis Stauffer, Seven Valleys, who wanted a recipe for onion loaf, which can be sliced but not as a bread. Thanks to D.J.Long and to a Geneva, N.Y. reader who sent the following recipes.

Onion Loaf

2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
¾ cup white cornmeal
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup chopped onion
1½ cups buttermilk or sour milk
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Put butter in a one-quart casserole or loaf pan. Heat in preheated oven. Mix remaining ingredients until smooth and put in hot pan. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes or until set. Best served like spoon bread.

German Onion Cake

2 cups coarsely chopped onions
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dried marjoram
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups all-purpose flour
¼ cup cornstarch
4 teaspoons baking powder
5 tablespoons vegetable shortening
¾ to 1 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup sour cream
2 teaspoons poppy seeds
¼ teaspoon paprika

In a medium skillet, saute onions in butter over low heat until they just begin to brown, about 15 minutes. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt, marjoram, and pepper. Set aside to cool.

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Mix together in large bowl: flour, cornstarch, baking powder, and remaining salt. Add the shortening and blend to form soft crumbs. Add the milk to form a soft dough.

Oil a 10-inch round cake pan or loaf pan. Use fingers to spread dough evenly. Spread cooked onions over top. Beat the egg and sour cream together. Spoon the mixture over the onion and spread to edge of pan. Sprinkle with poppy seeds and paprika. Bake 20 minutes at 450 degrees. Let cool slightly then cut into wedges.

RAINBOW FINGER JELL-O

1½ cups Jell-O, any flavor
4 tablespoons plain gelatine
4 cups boiling water

Combine Jell-O, gelatine, and water; stir until dissolved. Add:

2 cups cold water

Pour into two 13x9-inch cake pans. Refrigerate until firm. Then mix together:

1 cup boiling water with
2 tablespoons plain gelatin
½ cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons sugar

Pour on top of first mixture. When that is firm, make another mixture of the the above Jell-O recipe, but a different color.

Contributor writes: We live on a dairy farm with 60 milking cows. We have six children, 4 girls and 2 boys. This Rainbow Finger Jell-O is a favorite of our children. They especially like it in their school lunches.

CHEX MUDDY BUDDIES

9 cups cereal, Chex, Cheerios, Captain Crunch, etc.
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels
½ cup peanut butter
¼ cup margarine
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
Peanuts, optional
Raisins, optional

Pour cereal into large container and set aside. Combine chocolate morsels, margarine, and peanut butter in microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on high for 1½ minutes or until smooth, stirring after one minute. Stir in vanilla.

Pour chocolate mixture over cereal, stirring until all pieces are evenly coated. Then pour cereal into a large plastic bag with confectioners' sugar. Seal securely.

Shake until all pieces are well coated. Spread on cookie sheets to cool. Store in airtight container. Makes 9 cups.

Consuming Thoughts

Penn State Extension
Home Economist
For Berks Co.

Nothing is quite as refreshing as eating a slice of ice cold watermelon or dipping into a watermelon boat filled with luscious summer fruits.

Watermelons are now at their peak and will continue to be available through October.

Everyone wants a watermelon to be sweet, have a deep red color with crisp flesh and minimal number of seeds. Unfortunately not all watermelons meet the high expectations of today's consumer.

Many folks are apprehensive about selecting melons because they are afraid of not getting a good one. Other people rely on incorrect techniques for selecting a melon which often results in damaging the fruit. Actually the best guide to choosing a ripe juicy watermelon is to look at the underside or belly of the melon that lay on the ground. The ground color changes from a whitish green - to white - to a creamy white - to a yellow tinge in the white as it matures. So select one with a creamy white to yellowish white ground color.

The only sure way of getting the perfect watermelon is to buy it cut. If you decide on buying a whole watermelon, make sure the melon is symmetrical, attractive, and of good color for the variety. A melon with a pointed end or one that is misshapen generally won't be very sweet tasting. A mature melon has a bloom over the surface of the rind, giving it a velvety or dusty appearance. Too often the bloom gets rubbed off in handling and moving.

Recently I've seen shoppers thump or slap watermelons to check ripeness. Generally, this is too vague a test. The thump test is often used at harvest time in the field by a skilled person who knows what sound to expect from a particular variety. An immature melon gives a metallic ringing sound while a mature melon gives a more muffled or dead sound. The only trouble is that an overripe melon gives the same dull sound, so this method of testing has its limitations.

Many supermarkets cut watermelons in pieces since a whole melon is often too big for a small family. If you opt to buy a slice, choose a cut piece with a full red across the surface. Light color or streaks of white indicate immaturity. Seeds should be black or dark brown, not white, for full ripeness. For best taste, flesh should have no cracks or hollows.

In general you can figure on two-thirds to 1 pound of melon will yield about 1 cup cubed melon.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Centre Co. 4-H Sheep Club

The Centre County 4-H Sheep Club held its monthly meeting at the Penn State University Beef and Sheep barn on June 1.

The guest speakers for the evening was Dr. Harold W. Harpster, associate professor of animal science at Penn State, who addressed the club on feeding the 4-H show lamb. After the speech, Dr. Harpster gave a short quiz and held a open discussion on answers to the quiz. Each member was given a paper called "Have A Plan" by Dr. Harpster on feed rations for the members' show lambs.

Club members were informed that 61 market lambs were weighed in, tatooed, and taged on May 21.

A discussion was held and suggestions were given by club members on a club trip.

Committees were set up for a float and exhibit, both to take place in August at the Centre County Grange Fair.

Ag Progress Holds Interest For Kids Of All Ages

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — A petting zoo, ranging in appeal from the classy llamas to sleek-n-slimy snakes and turtles, attracted the crowds at Ag Progress this week.

But it was the furry bunnies that 7-year-old Katy Elizabeth Peoples most enjoyed in the petting zoo.

The Itinerant Talesman Bill Metzel brought his collection of homemade toys, games, and puzzles — things that have delighted children for generations. And the children who played with them discovered the pleasure of toys that they can learn to make too.

Smokey the Bear and the 4-H Clover Bears wandered throughout the grounds, giving hugs and handshakes.

At noon, story teller Jan Kinney entertained the crowd with her tales from Africa, Italy, and America. Children sat on the floor, in the chairs, or stood in the College Exhibits Building Theatre to hear about Davy Crockett and to take a magical journey to Africa where the trickster Spider Man lives.

A hands-on museum allowed children to use their muscle-power to turn, churn, and stomp implements their ancestors used in the field and home. It was the place where 6-year-old Ricky Klein found intriguing as he actually ground grain in a hand-turned grain mill.

Despite the many activities for children, the tractors still held the most appeal for Albert, 7, and

Daniel, 3, and Rashelle, 5, shake hands with 4-H Clover Bears who tour the grounds during Ag Progress Days.

Katy Elizabeth Peoples, 7, talks about her day at Ag Progress with her sister Sara and brother John. They are the children of John and Bonnie Peoples from Mahlon, Md.

Seven-year-old Albert Dreibelbis IV and his brother Chad, 4, are from Port Matilda, Centre County. The sons of Albert and Lisa like to accompany their dad to the barn. Their favorite activity at Ag Progress is climbing on the tractors.

Eating cotton candy, filling their bags with souvenirs, and taking a snooze occupy Michelle Martin, 5, and siblings Bethany, 7, and Nathan, 11 months. They are the children of Larry and Karen Martin of Berks County. With them are the children of Lloyd and Tina Oberholtzer of Lebanon County Janelle, 6; Crystal, 8; Lisa, 4; and Javin, 1.

The Dreibellis children were not alone. Almost every child who was asked what they enjoyed most about their visit to Ag Progress answered, "sitting on the tractors!"

The three-day annual event is free, and offers one of the biggest selection of tractors you'll ever find. So, if you did not attend Ag Progress this year, make sure you tell you your parents to plan to attend next year. It is held annually the third week in August at Rockspring in Centre County.

Intriqued with watching bees make honey are Katy Hoover, 7; Madelyn Hoover, 5; and Katie Rancik, 6. The Hoovers are the children of Scott and Sandy Hoover from Spring Grove. Katie is the daugther of Lori and Mike Rancik from Wriglesworth Knob Farm in Grampian, Clearfield County.

Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County Extension home economist, demonstrates making salsa, dried tomatoes, tomato soup, and tomato sauce.

Dried Tomatoes, Salsa, And Other Tomato Favorites

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The acidity in tomatoes varies and this means some of your old recipes may no longer be suitable for canning. In addition, new tomato favorites are gaining popularity.

An update on tomato preserving methods and new recipes was held recently at the Lebanon County Extension Office.

Alletta Schadler, Lebanon County Extension home economist, demonstrated making salsa, dried tomatoes, tomato soup, and tomato sauce.

It is important to remember that the type of tomato used affects the quality of salsa, sauces, and tomato dishes.

Paste tomatoes, such as Roma, have firmer flesh and produce thicker salsa, soups, and pastes than large slicing tomatoes.

Tips From Letti

• To make a quality product, it is important that you start with high quality ingredients. Tomatoes should be ripe and skins should not be broken.

• Cracks in the skin can give a sour taste to the tomato and ruin a whole batch of sauce or salsa.

• Do not use tomatoes from dead or frost-killed vines.

• To easily remove skins, dip tomatoes in boiling water for 30 to 60 seconds. Dump into cold water, and slip off skins.

• When cutting up tomatoes, do not expose to the air as pectin breaks down. This results in tomato solids and water separating. To produce a top quality juice, crush a few in the bottom of kettle, cut in remaining tomatoes while tomatoes are cooking. This results in a higher quality product.

• Use Clear Jel (modified food starch) to thicken tomato paste.

• Use Wonda Flour to thicken sauces and gravies, because it dissolves easily and does not need to be cooked ahead of time.

• Roma tomatoes are best for soup and sauces.

• Do not turn canning lids too tightly or they will not seal.

• To seed individual tomatoes, cut in half and insert finger in each corner of half to squeeze out seeds and excess juice.

• For free recipes and instructions for freezing and canning tomatoes, ask your county extension office or send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lebanon Co. Cooperative Extension, 2120 Cornwall Rd., Suite 1, Lebanon, PA 17042. For more information, call (717) 270-4391.

Salsa

Here are some tips about salsa. Salsa is a mixture of low-acid foods, such as onions and peppers, with acid foods such as tomatoes.

Roma tomatoes work best for salsa.

Peppers range from mild to fiery in taste. Do not increase the total amount of peppers in any recipe but you may substitute one type of pepper for another. Generally, the smaller the pepper, the fiirier the taste. Peppers provide a distinct taste to salsas. Choose a mild pepper when the recipe calls for long green chiles. Some popular hot peppers are Jalapeno, Serrano, Cayenne, Habanero, Tabasco.

Always wear plastic or rubber gloves while handling hot chilis. Remove skins of chiles by heating chiles until skins blister. After heating, place peppers in pan and cover with a damp cloth, which makes peeling easier. Let cool several minutes; slip off skins. Discard seeds and chop.

Acid ingredients help preserve salsa. If you are canning salsa, you must add acid because the natural acidity may not be high enough. Canned lemon juice is a good choice. Vinegar must be at least 5 percent acid if used.

Spices add flavoring. Use more if you prefer spicy salsas. Leave them out completely if you prefer a mild taste.

To can, follow the manufacturer's directions for pretreating lids. Fill hot clean jars with hot salsa. Wipe jar rims with a clean, damp paper towel before screwing on lids and metal bands.

Tomatoes may be dried in a food dehydrator to imitate sun-dried tomatoes.

GOURMET DRIED TOMATOES

Sun dried tomatoes are a popular delicacy but so expensive — $10 to $20 per pound.

Most sun dried tomatoes are imported from Italy, who first introduced them to the U.S. market. Unfortunately, the climate is not suitable for trying tomatoes in this area, but you can achieve a close imitation by using a food dehydrator. Make sure your dehydrator has a fan and a thermostat for successful drying.

Start with high quality Roma or plum-shaped tomatoes. The Roma varieties contain as much as 15 percent seeds compared to only 6 percent in round tomatoes.

Some common varieties of plum-shaped tomatoes are Red Pear, Roma VF, LaRoma, Del Oro, San Marzano, Hungarian Italian, Viva Italia, and Super Italian Paste — the meaties of all sweet, flavorful, and frequently up to 6 inches long.

Not all tomatoes can be dried successfully. Tomatoes low in acid may develop black spots during the drying process. The black spots do not represent spoilage but result in a slight change in flavor and are certainly not as appetizing as the fully red, robust dried tomato.

Wash tomatoes carefully and halve them lengthwise. Set the halves on drying racks with the cut sides up, close together, but not overlapping. If desired, sprinkle lightly with salt. Paste tomatoes will take about 10 to 15 hours to dry in a dehydrator at 140 degrees. If you're drying round tomatoes, slice ½ to ¾ -inch thick. When dry, they will be paper thin. If you slice them thinner, they will be difficult to remove from the drying racks.

To store dried tomatoes, package in freezer bags and then inside an airtight glass jar. Store in refrigerator or freezer until needed.

Do not chop or flake them until ready to use. When making tomato flakes or chunks, put the dried tomatoes in a food processor and chop to desired size.

Schadler recommends the cookbook "How To Dry Foods" by Deanna DeLong. It costs $14.95, and can be purchased at bookstores.

Novel Fashions Paraded In Bedford Leadline

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Entrants were plentiful for the annual leadline contest at the Bedford County Fair.

Taking place on opening day under a clear blue sky on an August Sunday minus heat and humidity, the competition for the various classes was keen.

Many of the numberous spectators wwere heard murmuring, "I'm glad I'm not a judge."

The first three competitors brought a chorus of "Oohs," and "Ayahs," from the audience and immaculate, wool donned, 3-4- and 5-year olds paraded their groomed and decorated sheep.

Codi Clapper, Bedrord, placed first; Amanda Stanton, Clearville, second; and Beau Dull, Manns Choice, third.

In the step up in age category, it was Kayla Dull of Manns Choice, first and Rebecca Lohr, New Paris, second.

Fashionable teenagers wearing handmade woolen fashions were difficult to judge bu Laurie Bero, Bedford County's Lamb and Wool Queen, placed first. She had sheared, carded, dyed, and knitted her wool sweater. Beth Sarver and Carissa Fochtman tied for second.

Laurie Bero also won the handmade portion of the contest in a wool blazer and skirt she made herself.

Family pairs brought Beau Dull and her little brother back into the ring to place first over Kayla Dull and her little brother.

In children's novelty competition, Amanda Stanton placed first in a "Cinderella and the Prince," costume. Second was Levi Clapper who pulled an obstinate dinosaur sheep around the ring while Ben Sollenberger placed third.

Ashley Lassinger won narrowly over Rebecca Lohr in the next age category of Lead Line.

Children in the school-age portion of the novelty competition went all out with everything from a bride and groom to a lobster fisherman.

Placing first was Allen Lassinger as the groom with his bride dressed sheep. Second was Cody Waltemire; third, Stephen Sweet; fourth, Mindy Faupel; fifth, Morgan Elliott; and sixth, Megan Faupel.

Teenagers also had their bout with the novelty themes. Thomas Bowser placed first and brought down the grandstand with his own impersonation of a ballet dancer with his ballet-dressed sheep. Both did a few fancy kicks.

Abbie Whitesell dressed as a flower with her butterfly winged sheep was second and a Minnie Mouse/Mickey Mouse combo won a third for Kim Sarver.

Heather and Margaret Schaeffer, twins, were fourth and fifth as a clow vet and a butcher.

Kayla and Beau Dull await the judging results.

Clagett Becomes Md. FFA President

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md. — On June 23, Tracy Clagett of Taylorsville, Md. was named the new president of the Maryland Chapter of the National FFA Organization on the last night of the state FFA conference held in Hagerstown, Md.

She fulfilled her first duty that evening, leading the closing ceremony. The 18-year-old is a 1994 graduate of South Carroll High School in Carroll county and will be entering Carroll Community College in the fall with plans to transfer to Western Maryland College in the future.

"I've always wanted to do this. It's been a dream," Clagett said of running for office. "But I thought I might get another office, like secretary or something...not president!"

Six people applied for the six statewwide officer positions, each taking a 50-page test on FFA knowledge along with their application. Last year's officers interviewed and tested the applicants on June 4. The interview, which took place in Annapolis, took six hours and was held on the same day as Clagett's high school prom. "She rushed home from the interview to get ready for her prom!" said Sherry Clagett, mother of the new FFA president.

Tracy Clagett's FFA interests have included showing her steer, participating in livestock judging and public speaking, and learning about agriculture in general. She follows her sister Kelly's footsteps into FFA leadership. Kelly held the stat eoffice of recorder a few years back.

Tracy Clagett

Since taking office, Clagett attended one day of the FFA State Presidents Conference in Washington, D.C. which was held July 25-30. She had hoped to lobby congress to support agricultural education. But a fall she took just before the conference sent Tracy to the hospital and home after just one day there. She was diagnosed with a broken rib and spinal swelling and ordered to bed rest, so the new vice president, Christine Daley carried out the task alone.

Tracy Clagett's fall didn't stop her from attending the National Leadership Conference for state officers in New Jersey Augsut 1-4. She returned home just in time to participate in the end of the Carroll County 4-H and FFA Fair, held August 1-6. In the fall, Tracy Clagett plans to start traveling the state to visit chapters, hold meetings, and attend banquets as well as to judge FFA contests.

She plans to pursue an education in deaf education and agricultural communications. But she won't lose sight of another one of her dreams along the way. As a singer, she performed live in front of 3,500 people at the National FFA Talent Convention last November in Kansas City, Mo.

She has also performed at school and 4-H as well as other FFA events. Clagett dreams of becoming a country singer one day.

Laurie Bero, Bedford County's Lamb and Wool Queen, placed first in teen competition in her handmade, sheep to sweater, creation.

Allen Lassinger leads his obedient bride around the ring for novelty leadline judging. The sheep comes complete with a garter on her right leg.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Laura Phillips of the Tulpehocken FFA Chapter of Bernville attended the 1994 Washington Leadership Conference in the nation's capitol. The conference is an activity of the National FFA Organization in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Education.

The week-long program helps FFA members improve their leadership skills, develop an understanding of the nation's heritage and prepare for leadership roles in their chapters and communities. Sessions on self-confidence, goal setting, and team building were combined with dicussions on personal development, motivation, and citizenship to help members become effective leaders in the science, business and technology of agriculture.

Visits to Mount Vernon, the Smithsonian Institution, Arlington National Cemetery, the Jefferson Memorial, and other historic sights in Washington were included in the conference.

The chapter's FFA adviser is Christian Williams and Barry Kelner.

Tomato Favorites

Process in boiling water canner with water 1-2-inches above jar tops. Bring water to a rolling boil then set timer for the recommended processing time.

Some recipes from the workshop are printed as follows. Do not alter the proportions if you you are going to can these recipes as the proportions of vegetables to acid and tomatoes may make it unsafe.

SCALLOPED FRESH TOMATOES

1 medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons butter
4 medium, ripe tomatoes, sliced
1 cup grated sharp cheese
1 cup fine, soft bread crumbs
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 eggs, well-beaten
½ teaspoon salt

Cook onions in butter until tender. Place half the tomatoes in a 10x6x1½ -inch baking dish. Top with half each onions, cheese, and crumbs; repeat. Mix remaining ingredients. Pour over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Serves 4 to 5.

TOMATO SALSA

4 cups peeled, cored, chopped tomatoes
2 cups seeded, chopped long green chiles
½ cup seeded, chopped jalapeno peppers
¾ cup chopped onions
4 cloves garlic, finely chopped
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon ground cumin
1 tablespoon oregano leaves
1 tablespoon fresh cilantro
1½ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in a large saucepan and bring the mixture to a boil, stirring frequently. Reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Ladle hot into pint jars, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process in a boiling water canner for 15 minutes. Yield: 4 pints.

TOMATO TACO SAUCE

8 quarts peeled, cored, finely chopped paste tomatoes
2 cloves garlic, crushed
5 cups chopped onions
4 jalapeno peppers, seeded, chopped
4 long green chiles, seeded, chopped
2½ cups vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
1½ tablespoons black pepper
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons oregano leaves
1 teaspoon ground cumin

Combine ingredients in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer, stirring frequently until thick (about 1 hour). Ladle hot mixture into pint jars, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process in boiling water canner for 15 minutes. Yield: 16-18 pints.

TOMATO PASTE SALSA

3 quarts peeled, cored, chopped slicing tomatoes
3 cups chopped onions
6 jalapeno peppers, seeded, finely chopped
4 long green chiles, seeded, chopped
4 cloves garlic, finely chopped
2 12-ounce cans tomato paste
2 cups bottled lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon ground cumin
2 tablespoons oregano leaves
1 teaspoon black pepper

Combine all ingredients in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Ladle hot into pint jars, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process in boiling water canner for 15 minutes.

Yield: 7-9 pints. .

LETTI'S HOMEMADE TOMATO SOUP

5-quarts tomatoes, cored, quartered
1 large onion, chopped
1 large pepper, chopped
1 cup chopped celery leaves

Wash tomatoes, core, quarter, and place in kettle with other vegetables. Cook until vegetables are tender, stir often to prevent scorching and sticking. When vegetables are tender, put them through a food mill to remove skins and seeds. Season with salt and pepper, to taste.

Freeze tomato mixture in 2 cup containers to make 1 quart soup. When ready to make soup, have tomato mixture heated. Make the following milk mixture.

1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup milk

Mix together flour and cold milk until lumps dissolve. Melt butter and heat flour and milk mixture over medium heat until it boils and thickens, stirring often. Season with salt and pepper if desired.

Have ready equal amounts of hot thickened milk mixture and tomato mixture. Slowly pour the tomato mixture into the milk mixture, stirring as you do it. Remember tomatoes are acid. If you forget and add the milk into the tomato juice, it will curdle almost immediately. Heat gently until serving temperature.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

This past Sunday our son from Georgia asked me to take a drive with him. We spent a few hours simply driving in our local area. During this time we drove through three covered bridges and saw a beautiful stone arch bridge.

It was a time for reminiscing as I pointed out the place where a blacksmith shop was previously located. Here my father brought his horses to be shod. We saw large homes built along the Conestoga River, and I told him where houses had been burned down. There were abandoned stone quarries, and we took some pictures.

One day during his visit we were eating dinner when his brother stopped in to say that he was going to pick up some baby pigs. You should have seen those grandchildren push in their French fries as they wanted to go along. After the pigs arrived, they were something new to play with on the farm. Our two black cats hid every time they saw the children coming and could only be petted at feeding time.

Just now I have so many bouquets. There are not enough tables to put all of them on and properly display them. In the living room is a big green vase with gladiolas. The dining room table has a vase of large zinnias while the kitchen table has two bouquets. One is of asters and the other of roses. For some reason our roses do not last very long after they are cut. I've tried putting them in hard water instead of soft water but it does not seem to make any difference. Even giving them fresh cuts does not help.

ADADC Simplifies Food Label Literacy

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — An information explosion has hit America's supermarkets and American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc. (ADADC) in conjunction with National Dairy Council is taking advantage of the new label system to promote dairy products.

"LABEL-EASE: A guide to Using the New Food Labels" is an educational program for high school students and adults developed by the National Dairy Council (NDC) to demystify the new nutrition labels.

With more than 17 pieces of nutrition information listed on each label, reading and understanding them can be very confusing. Label-ease focuses on seven key nutritional components: vitamin A, vitamin C, calcium, iron, protein, fiber and fat/calories.

Consumers may be surprised to find that foods they considered healthy because they are low-calorie or low-fat are not nutrient dense. Although they're low in calories or fat, they provide little or no nutrient value. On the other hand, foods they've avoided because of calorie or fat content, such as dairy products, may be excellent sources of nutrients and can be added to the diet in moderation.

CLARION (Clarion Co.) — The future of Pennsyvlania dairy promotion at the local level looks very promising if the number of enthusiastic and dedicated young people who have become involved is counted. This year, the number of these active young people has grown to about 200. One hundred and twenty-four junior promoters, Dairymaids, Ambassadors, and Jr. Representatives, have joined 31 Princesses and 23 Alternates in the important task of promoting the use and sale of dairy products and representing agriculture as a way of life.

On July 28, ninety-eight of these young ambassadors accompanied by 33 adults, gathered at Penn State's Ag Arena for a one-day crash course in dairy promotion techniques conducted by Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc.

Carroll County Names Farm Queen

The new Carroll County Farm Queen, Mary Ellen Seraydian.

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md. — As the crowd exploded, former Carroll County Dairy Princess, Mary Ellen Seraydian was crowned the 1994 Carroll County Farm Queen at a ceremony held recently at the Carroll County 4-H and FFA Fair.

Seraydian vied for the title with fellow contestants and firends, Carrie Martin and Christina Harper.

Mary Ellen Seraydian, daughter of Charles and Mary Ann Seraydian, is a senior at Francis Scott Key High School and has been an active member of 4-H for nine years and an FFA member for two years. She has been vice president of the Francis Scott Key chapter of FFA this past year as well as serving on the dairy judging, dairy food judging, and forestry judging teams in the 1993-1994 year.

In 4-H, she had the champion record book in achievement and conservation for Carroll County this year. She won reserve grand champion in public speaking on the district level. Seraydian was also a delegate to the Maryland Institute of Cooperative Education and the National Institute of Cooperative Education this year.

Mary Ellen lives on her family's dairy and crop farm in Taneytown and belongs to the Carroll County Dairy Club, the Progressive Clovers, and the Taneytown 4-H Club. At home on the farm, Seraydian helps milk the cows, raise calves, plant and harvest crops, and operate farm machinery.

During the competition, the contestants each spoke about themselves and their accomplishments, then answered a question drawn from a fishbowl. Each spoke with poise and control, exhibiting their ability to communicate the needs of farmers today.

When the judges were excused to make their decision the contestants were entertained by several acts presented by the Carroll County 4-H Performing Arts Club.

Then the big moment came. Before the winner was announced, outgoing Farm Queen Marie Speak spoke about her experiences as the 1993 Farm Queen, thanking contest organizers Debbie Hoff and Sue Myers as well as her parents and family.

In a teal-green gown, Seraydian fought back tears as outgoing Farm Queen Marie Speak placed the sash around her neck and the tiara on her head. Clutching the bouquet of flowers that had been presented to her, she thanked the judges.

"I know it must have been a hard decision," she said, "because these guys are all my friends. It's a great honor to represent the Farm Bureau and Carroll County in the State Contest.

She said "It was an honor to teach youngsters and future FFA and 4-H members about the agriculture industry and how important it is in my life... and how important it is for me to help them understand our future in agriculture."

Seraydian will vie for the title of Maryland Farm Queen at a contest held during the Maryland State Fair in Timonium on August 28.

YORK (York Co.) — Keystone National Rib Cookoff and Music Fest Chairman, Tony Dobrosky, York, reports that between 45,000 and 48,000 people attended the four-day event held at the York Fairgrounds the last four days of July.

The event was held as a potential fund-raiser for the Keystone International Livestock Exposition held yearly in October at the Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg.

Fourteen Ribrateurs from eight states and Canada sold their products at the event. The ribrateurs used about 27,000 pounds of ribs during the four days. Erskine Cash, State College, judging chairman, reported that a panel of 10 judges chose the winning ribs.

The winner of the $2,000 prize was Armadillos from Youngstown, Ohio. Second place was Finley's Restaurant, York., The people's choice sponsored by Hatfield Quality Meats, was won by Cowboys BBQ & Ribs from Fort Worth, Texas. Due to their popularity, they will be a concessionaire at the York Fair.

The working committee for this event was made up of PA Livestock Association members from all over Pennsylvania.

On the small stage, coordinated by Cathy Stewart, Lebanon, entertainment was performed from 12:00 noon to 6:00 daily. Other entertainment included Pig Races, a Petting Zoo, the Jack Russell Dog Races and a demonstration tent.

According to Charlie Itle, New Cumberland, an excellent Potbellied Pig Show was held on Sunday. Following is a list of winners:

More than 35 craft exhibitors

Secrets of Joliet, Illinois, cook up tons of ribs for the general public to enjoy.

You Ask ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? You Answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for the answers.

"You Ask — You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask — You Answer, Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522.

QUESTION — Charles E. Wright, Duncannon, purchased a 13-inch parlor stove made of iron with the following marks: On the front spark inside is written Gray Iron Casting Co., Mt. Joy, Pa. On the inside top door 75-11; on the poker 7517. The doors, drafts, etc., would look like a full-sized stove. Is this company still in business?

QUESTION — D. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., would like to buy an Aladdin Lamp that is either electric or oil or kerosene, but not the Aladdin mantel type. He wants the shape, the kind rubbed for a wish in the story of the Magic Lamp.

QUESTION — Nancy Cummings, Bolivar, would like to know why celery plants go to seed. She has grown celery all her life and the last two years, some of the plants go to seed instead of developing a nice stalk.

QUESTION — M. Carver writes: What a surprise in our garden when we discovered the local nursery supplied us with cabbage plants instead of brussels sprouts. We would like to know how they are handled while fresh.

QUESTION — Betsy Dehn, Spencerville, Md., writes that when she was young, there was a story that went something like this: It was nearing the Christmas holidays and the apple tree was feeling sad and forlorn. His branches were bare and plain whereas the pine tree was decorated with tinsel and glitter. The apple tree complained to God and God said to the apple tree that he would give the tree a special gift. Betsy doesn't remember the remainder of the story, but God ended up putting a Christmas star in the heart of each apple. If you cut an apple crosswise, you will find a perfectly shaped five-point star in the heart of the apple. Betsy would like to have the complete story of how the star came to appear in the center of the apple.

QUESTION — Shirley Baer, New Freedom, would like handmade aluminum made during the late 1930s and 1940s, especially those with designs of animals, flowers, and fowl.

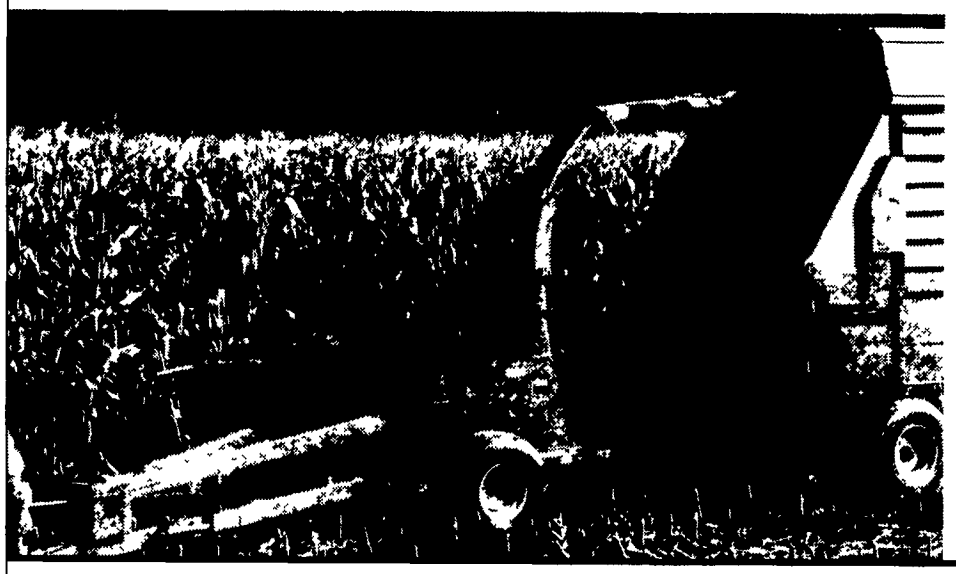
JOHN DEERE POWR-MIZER™ FORAGE HARVESTER

Consistent cut, consistent savings

A John Deere Powr-Mizer Forage Harvester provides more than a uniform length-of-cut, it delivers savings that are every bit as regular. So you harvest more of your crop efficiently – without squandering horsepower.

The exclusive Dura-Drum™ cutterhead is fully-enclosed. It can't fill with silage like cage-type designs. That means cut crop doesn't get recut, so all of your horsepower remains productive.

You'll also like the way the short, segmented knives save you money and time. When damaged, a John Deere replacement knife costs $13.03* compared to $77.32* for a full-width knife found on a competitor's cutterhead. Here's another bonus – it's easy to replace a John Deere knife. Simply loosen three bolts, slide out the old knife, slide in the replacement, then retighten the bolts.



To start saving power, money, and quality forage, check out a Powr-Mizer Forage Harvester at your John Deere dealer today.

ANSWER — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, wanted to know if there is a way to break a dog of being afraid of thunder and lightning. Thanks to Dottie and Ed Sokola, Bedminster, for writing that their 14-year-old Lhasa Apso had fear of thunder, lightning, and hot-air balloons all her life until August 1992. That is when they found a veterinarian who treats animals with homeopathic remedies that can be purchased at health food stores or through mail. His name is C. Edgar Sheaffer, Mechanicsburg, who recommended aconitum napellus (30c strength), also know as aconite, which is used for fright among other things. The Sokolas write that the dog was cured of fright almost overnight. Sheaffer treats many dog ailments over the phone and charges $2 per minute. He can be reached at Clark Veterinary Clinic, 11 Flowers Dr. Mechanicsburg. Or at the following phone numbers: 717-795-9799, 717-838-4879, or 717-838-4879.

ANSWER — D. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., wanted to know where to find kegs for Saint Bernards to wear around their necks. Thanks to B.A.Landis, Liverpool, who suggests he contact Mickel Burkhalter, Mont-Dedos, 2748 Souboz, Switzerland, who raises Bernese sheep dogs and imports them to the U.S.

ANSWER — A reader wanted to know if someone has a grain scale that can be bought to weigh saffron or gunpowder. Thanks to Philip E. Wiegle, Pottstown, for suggesting that the reader go to a gun shop that sells reloading equipment. Powder scales are available from several companies such as RCBS, Dillon, Lee, Lyman, and Hornaday. All are accurate to one-tenth of a grain, and most can measure from 0-100 grains. Many different models are available, from simple balance scales costing about $20 to electronic digital scales that start about $150.

If your local gun shop doesn't have a scale, they can order one for you order through Midway catalog 1-800-243-3220.

ANSWER — D.Newsom, R. 2, Box 530 Cooperstown, N.Y. 13326-9606, wanted to purchase soft fake fur or plush large pieces in 6 to 8 yard lengths. Shirley Baer, New Freedom, writes that fur of all kinds can be found at many Goodwill or Rescue Mission stores.

Auction Note

Don't miss this sale. In March we had 217 tractors with 211 selling. In June there were 134 and 129 sold! I can't believe the rare and highly desirable tractors we've got. All makes too. I doubt we'll ever have this many rare ones again! This listing made on July 28 with many items being added daily - call for specifics.
Thanks, Dennis Polk

1. BELLES SPRINGS RESTAURANT W/APPROX. 9.25 ACRES
2. Travel Port Gas Station - Next to Belles Springs Rest.

OCTOBER 17, 1994 - REAL ESTATE 9:30 A.M.
Restaurant Equipment 10:00 A.M.

For sale at auction will be commercial real estate of the Belles Springs Restaurant. This includes the beautifully redone barn w/heavy wooden beams and mountain stone structure with approx. 9.25 acres. The restaurant had seating for 100 people & paved parking lot for 100 plus cars. The building also has central air & oil and air heat combination.

This building & land would make a nice commercial business for doctors, lawyers, stores, dealerships, etc., as well as a restaurant. It is close to Belles Springs Golf Course & borders the Clinton County Fairgrounds. This location is one half hour from Williamsport & State College and only 1/4 mile from Interstate 80 (exit 26). This is a very nice commercial property w/9.25 acres and a building in excellent condition & could be used for virtually any type of commercial business.

Parcel #2 - Commercial building which was formerly a gas station. The land of Belles Springs surrounds this lot. With the purchase of this building and Belles Springs bldg. The whole commercial corner would be available.

Auctioneer's Note: Full ad of restaurant equipment in October 8th issue.

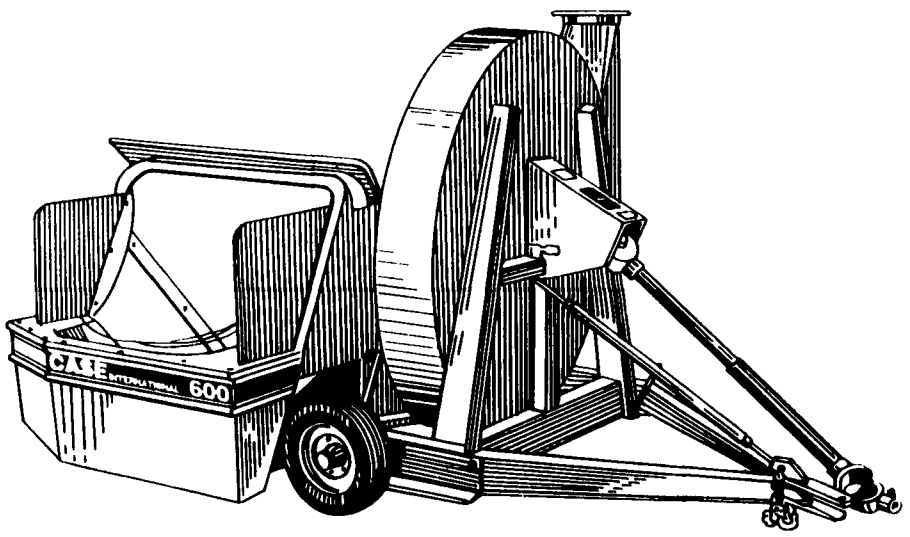
FAST-FILL YOUR TALLEST SILOS!



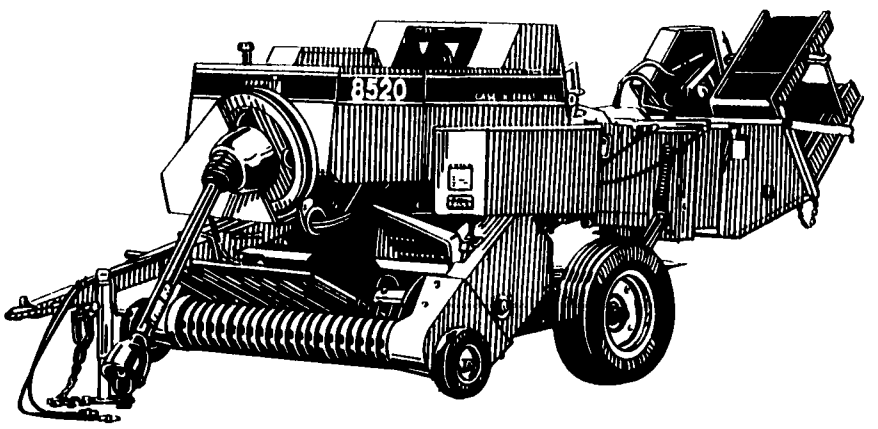
Case International 600 Forage Blowers

For your tall, big-diameter silos, 100 feet or higher, get the 600 Blower. It blows up to 110 tons of haylage or up to 180 tons of corn silage per hour!

- High volume with direct 30° feeding angle
- Drive-in convenience with 30½ -inch extendable hopper
- 37-inch-wide, high-volume hopper.

See these big-capacity blowers now.

OUTSTANDING BALER PERFORMANCE MEANS GREATER NUTRITION AT AN ECONOMICAL PRICE



Case International 8520/8530 Rectangular Balers

These two balers both feature the Case IH center line design. Eliminates turning corners with the crop to get it into the bale chamber, as is common with conventional designs. This saves valuable protein-rich leaves. Also saves time because you don't have to change from field to road position for transport.

Other outstanding features are:

- Low-profile baler design provides excellent visibility to the rear of the baler.
- Low-profile pickup... reduces crop lifting height, saving nutritious leaves
- Hay goes straight into the unique prepacker chamber... regardless of windrow size... for uniform flake and bale density

U-TUBE LAMP & SUPPLIES

"...the biggest advantage of these lamps is the economic savings over the life of the bulb. Once the initial investment is paid back, which will be done in less than six months, the increased electrical economy make such bulbs the most logical way to light..." MICHAEL J. Dana PHD Animal Science University of Connecticut

EARTH LIGHT

ENERGY EFFICIENCY AND LONGER LIFE

Earth Light Collection lamps pay for themselves many times over by providing significant savings on energy, maintenance and replacement. Compared to ordinary incandescent lamps, Earth Light Collection lamps save up to 75 percent on energy. The $1.523, for example, will save $67* over the life of each lamp. What's more, these energy savings are compounded by savings on maintenance and replacement. With an average life of 10,000 hours, Earth Light Collection lamps last up to 13 times longer than ordinary incandescents.

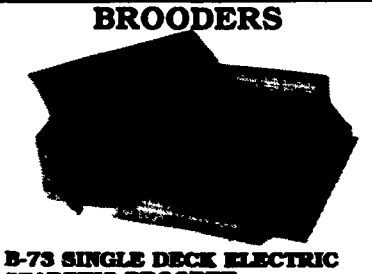
BROODERS



B-73 SINGLE DECK ELECTRIC STARTING BROODER

Wider than most brooders for more chick capacity, brooder is equipped with two feeders and one water pan. Sliding door and two piece top for convenience in moving chicks. Galvanized steel mesh floor and droppings pan and removable to make cleaning easier. Removable curtain separates heated areas and reduces heat loss. Adjustable wire grilles.

Heat controlled by automatic thermostat using 200 watt porcelain insulated Nichrome wire element, automatic snap switch and thermostat water. Plugs into ordinary electric outlet — 110 volts, 60 cycles, A.C. Use in draft-free areas where temperatures do not fall below 60 degrees F.

HANGING FEEDERS

GAME BIRD FEEDER

Bail handle permits hanging anywhere or use inside B73Q brooder when using as single deck. 1¾" of eating space. Feeder is 9" high.

15 LB. CAPACITY FEEDER

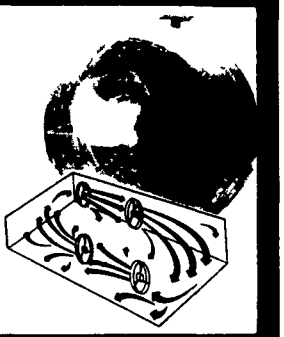
For use with baby chicks to 6 weeks. Specially designed for quick and easy assembly. Tapered body prevents feed bridging, also allows the bodies to nest during shipping and storage. Galvanized steel pan has feed-saver lip. Two feed level adjustments. No cross rods to restrict feed flow in tube body.

GAME BIRD FEEDER

Same as the F-Q1 but shorter. Feeder is designed to fit into the B-73Q Game Bird Box Brooder when stacked in battery (multiple decks).

Schaefer Barn Kooler®

The Barn Kooler® System incorporates a series of fans and controls into an integrated system that is used for both high velocity air circulation for cooling during the Summer and gentle, draft-free air movement during the Winter months. By utilizing thermostically controlled speed modulators, the speed of the circulating air is constantly adjusted to the temperature. As the temperatures in the building rise and fall, so does the volume of air being circulated.



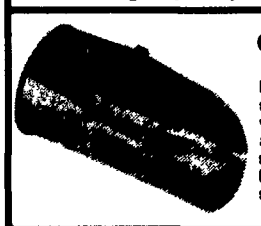
WATERERS

DOUBLE WALL FOUNTAINS

These are heavy-duty, galvanized steel fountains with double-wall construction which helps keep water cool to promote intake. Constant water level is maintained in pan by vacuum. No floats to get stuck or be replaced. Outside body has top handle and positive, visible locking device. Handle on inside body is above water line for easy carrying. Top is designed to prevent roosting. Inner tank has brass valve with rubber sealing washer for positive shut-off. Brass spring valve closes water outlet when outer can is removed, replacing outer can releases valve and reopens water outlet. Bottom pan is uniseamed mechanically to tank for leak-proof performance.

ONE GALLON PLASTIC JAR WATERER

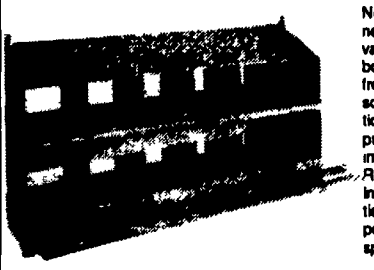
Most popular plastic waterer. Opaque jar made of high density polyethylene. Flat top on jar allows for free-standing and easy filling. Screw-on base made of durable, high impact styrene.



GALVANIZED GRAIN AND FEED SCOOPS

New Delphos design Grain and Feed Scoops are sturdy in construction--made from 24 gauge galvanized steel. Riveted steel tubular handle for added comfort. Riveted cross brace adds to strength. Four sizes available: 4 and 6 quart sizes have flat bottom to better get into corners. Ideal scoops for grain and seed dealers

NESTS

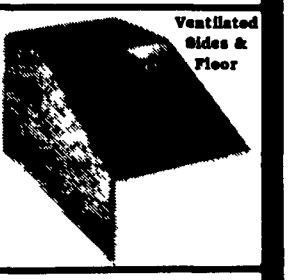


New Delphos design square nests are made from heavy galvanized steel. Removable painted bottoms for easy cleaning. High front and back panels to eliminate scratching of litter out of nest. Vertical ends and all partitions are punched for proper ventilation, an important factor in hot weather. Roof is pitched to prevent roosting. Folding perches, 2 for bottom tier (14 Hole Nest has 1 bottom perch) and 1 for top tier, are spaced to eliminate litter build up.

RABBIT EQUIPMENT METAL NEST

Large galvanized steel nest for maximum comfort with no sharp edges or hard to clean surfaces. Ventilated sides and floor keeps the litter dry and prevents potentially lethal heat buildup.

Ventilated Sides & Floor



SELF-FEEDER

SIFTER BOTTOM — Same design with holes in bottom to allow fines and dust to pass through. No sharp edges inside to hurt, wire plate bottom does not use screen or wire that can rust or be chewed through. All rabbit feeders are totally riveted — no spot welds to rust out.

PENNSYLVANIA PARTNERSHIP — FINDING THE FUTURE

Lisa Holden
Bill Heald
And Larry Specht

Never before has the dairy industry faced so many challenges — increased competition, higher input costs, outdated facilities, volatile prices, and shrinking profit margins. Never before has there been so much excitement and enthusiasm for the future of the dairy industry in Pennsylvania.

Why all this optimism in the face of so many challenges?

At the First Forum early in June, virtually all segments of Pennsylvania's dairy industry formed a partnership with Penn State Cooperative Extension and gave voice to a common goal — increase the profitability of Pennsylvania dairy businesses through enhanced awareness and application of management technologies.

The first step toward this goal was to expand the current Dairy Management And Profitability Program — Dairy-MAP — to provide advanced business education for more of Pennsylvania's dairy farm managers.

In the short time since the First Forum, industry leaders — including milk producers — have developed plans of action on several fronts and are beginning to implement these plans. It is exciting to see this all unfold. What an awesome alliance!

Members of agricultural organizations who had different agendas in the past now are partners, working together to ensure a viable future for the dairy industry in Pennsylvania.

Industry groups have planned for the marketing and funding of an expanded Dairy-MAP initiative.

Teams of extension and industry staff will conduct Dairy-MAP workshops beginning in January 1995.

The Dairy-MAP Program will be guided by an advisory council of 14 members, made up of half milk producers and half industry personnel. Penn State will continue to provide the educational component — people and materials — working with industry volunteers and the advisory council.

Working together in this newly formed partnership, we are likely to demonstrate our inexperience along the way. Expansions on farms do not occur without some unexpected changes in plans, and program expansions are no different. We ask for your patience and support.

By way of Dairy-MAP, we all have started to look in the mirror, learn who we are, see where the dairy industry is going in the future, and plan our future in this rapidly changing industry so that we are not left out.

We cannot roll back the clock, but we can predict where the industry is going in the next five years and then equip ourselves to be a competitive partner in that time and place.

From the beginning there has been a trend in this country to produce more milk with fewer cows and farms. Dairying has been concentrated in areas most favorable to its success.

Regions of Pennsylvania have been very favorable for dairy production. Pennsylvania recently moved from fifth to fourth in milk sales. If the trend can be continued, we may become third around the turn of the century. With improved business skills and use of dairy management technology, we can be more successful in the competition for profitable milk sales.

Meeting the needs of tomorrow's dairy industry is of paramount importance to all of us. Collaborating as partners, for our collective benefit, is a positive step toward the future. We need to work as one to keep dairying in Pennsylvania and to make our share of the industry grow.

See your local extension office or agribusiness representatives for more information about the expanded Dairy-MAP Program.

State Board Moves To Protect Farms

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Agricultural Land Preservation Board has approved easement purchases for four farms in four counties, protecting 387 acres of prime farmland from development.

"Three of the farms approved at today's meeting are dairy operations," said State Agriculture Secretary and Board Chairman Boyd E. Wolff. "It's farms like these that make Pennsylvania fourth in the nation in milk production."

Under the Farmland Protection Program, which began in 1989, the state and counties purchase development rights to guarantee that their farms will remain as agricultural land. Individual landowners apply to county Agricultural Land Preservation Boards.

If approved for possible easement purchase, the county boards may request state funding participation. Counties may participate jointly with the state in easement purchases or may purchase easements outright themselves.

Following are the properties approved, listed by county, owner, township, acreage, and purchase cost:

- Lackawanna — Ronald Mayeski, Jefferson Township, 95 acres, $118,655.
- Lancaster — Andrew G. and Naomi P. Miller, Rapho Township, 85 acres, $128,703.
- Montgomery — John G. Lutz, Douglass Township, 72 acres, $410,000.
- Union — William and Dianna Hiller, Gregg Township, 135 acres, $155,639.

Winey Becomes Sales Director

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Joe Patti, manager of Pennsylvania Farm Bureau's Safemark Division, has announced the hiring of William "Bill" Winey as a new sales director. With the addition, Safemark has three sales directors.

Safemark is a members' service of Pennsylvania Farm Bureau. It sold a record $6 million worth of tires, batteries, tillage tools, twine, and other farm products last year.

Safemark operates through a network of 352 local dealers in Pennsylvania and three other states.

Winey will serve Safemark dealers in southern and western Pennsylvania and out-of-state accounts in eastern New York, Connecticut, and some of New Jersey.

Winey comes to Safemark with 18 years of sales and administrative experience in the trucking industry. He has been receiving in-house training from Safemark since May and is ready to begin working in the field.

POULTRY PRODUCERS: YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

Dr. Charlie Pitts
Dept. of Entomology

Recently, we started looking for information on the best tillage method to control flies in freshly spread manure.

Much to our surprise, we could not find any published research on this topic.

We would like to conduct some field studies this summer to find out the best tillage method for control of the house fly in spread manure.

We have done two preliminary studies on single treatments using moldboard plow, chisel plow, and disc. There is a definite treatment effect. We need farmers to cooperate with us and participate in setting up additional studies.

We are in need of land that has been spread with manure from chicken houses and that the farmer has the capability of utilizing different plows and combinations of treatments.

If there are any farmers that are interested in participating in this field study, please call Charlie Pitts, Department of Entomology, Penn State, at (814) 863-7789. This will provide us with information that will allow us to make definite recommendations for the spring spread.

Thank you for your much needed help.

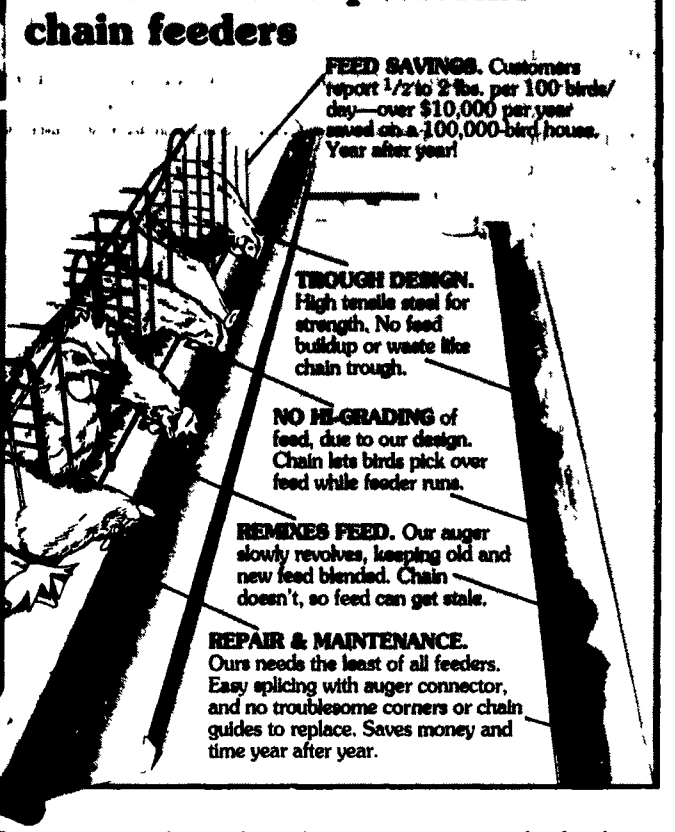
NORTHEAST POULTRY SHOW Lancaster, PA September 28-29, 1994

More Than 260 Ultraflo® Systems Have Been Sold In The Northeast Since 1985 - That's Over 20 Million Birds!

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders



FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs. per 100 birds/day—over $10,000 per year saved on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year!

TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength. No feed buildup or waste like chain trough.

NO HI-GRADING of feed, due to our design. Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs.

REMIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended. Chain doesn't, so feed can get stale.

REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders. Easy splicing with auger connector, and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace. Saves money and time year after year.

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed. Have hardened steel gears for trouble-free life. Microprocessor control lets you program feeding time to the second.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary. Auger and trough are both warranted 5 full years. Chain feeders are not.

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System. Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

Belarus Introduces Tractor Series

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — The new Belarus Machinery, Inc. 400 Series tractors deliver 57 hp of reliable performance and the fuel efficiency of a 253-cubic-inch 4-cylinder air-cooled diesel engine.

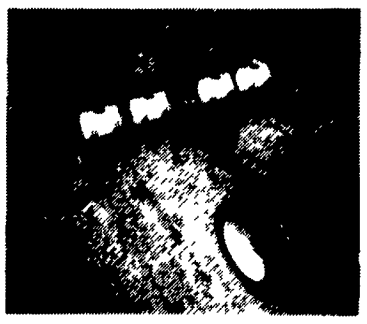
The 400 Series includes four low profile models, ideal for vineyards, orchards, and small acreage crops. A choice of two-wheel or four-wheel traction helps match tractors to specific applications. The 400 Series tractors are available with an enclosed cab or ROPS.

Kinze Introduces Twin-Line® Planters

WILLIAMSBURG, Iowa — A new line of large, versatile, folding, row crop planters was introduced recently by Kinze Manufacturing, Inc.

The new Kinze Model 2600 Twin-Line® Planters feature a clean, uncluttered, three-section double toolbar for greater strength, balance and weight distribution in all types of planting practices, contours, and terrain. All four models (8W, 12N, 12W and 16N) are built with a 4-row center section, along with 2-, 4- or 6-row wing sections. The wings flex as much as 7°, up or down.

For added versatility, all Twin-Line Models can be equipped with Kinze's patented interplant push units for planting narrow rows (15 inches - 19 inches) or they can be set up with either liquid or dry fertilizer using single or double disc openers. Liquid fertilizer packages include a choice of piston or squeeze pumps. another new attachment is a rear hitch option for towing additional fertilizer.



The new Kinze Model 2600 Twin-Line® Planters feature a clean, uncluttered, three-section double toolbar for greater strength, balance and weight distribution in all types of planting practices, contours, and terrain.

Bengtson Joins PennWest

CENTRE HALL (Centre Co.) — Eric Bengtson, State College, has recently joined PennWest Farm Credit, ACA (Agricultural Credit Association) at the Centre Hall office as an account officer.

His duties include developing new business, servicing loans held by the office, assisting farmers with other products of the association; and working with the public for a better understanding of the Farm Credit System.

Bengtson has an MBA and bachelor's degree from Penn State University. He brings extensive Farm Credit experience gain with seven years service at the Farm Credit Banks of Springfield, which serves New York and New England. He also has experience with farm management services which assist farmers in analyzing their operations.

Magnum Tractor Reaches Milestone

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation recently added another entry to the farm history books when it built and shipped the 50,000th Case International Magnum™ tractor.

The production milestone will be celebrated with a limited series of Magnum Mark 50 Edition tractors to be sold throughout the U.S., Canada, and select international markets. The commemorative tractors will carry unique Mark 50 graphics inside and out and special paint scheme.

"If you think about it, only a few high points have made a revolutionary mark on the evolution of the modern tractor," said Rich Christman, Case Corporation senior vice president, sales and marketing-North America. "Until we introduced the 7100 Series Magnum tractors, tractor design had stayed basically the same for over twenty years. A handful of pivotal changes like shift-on-the-go transmissions and hydraulics were separated by long stretches of relatively minor product innovation. Magnum represents the last great revolution in tractor technology."

The 7200 Series includes five models — the 7210, 7220, 7230, 7240 and 7250, ranging from 130 to 215 PTO horsepower.

Computerized Record Keeping Course

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — The Wyoming County Cooperative Extension Office will offer an introduction to electronic record keeping using "Quicken" on Wednesday, September 14, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the extension office in Tunkhannock.

The meeting will be conducted by Dr. Larry Jenkins from the farm management section at Penn State University and Lehan Power, area farm management agent.

Jenkins has customized this program and created a chart of accounts for dairy farmers. Professor Jenkins chart of accounts will help farm managers utilize the full potential of low-cost computerized record keeping.

If you have questions, contact the Wyoming County Cooperative Extension Office at (717) 836-3196 or Lehan Power at (717) 265-2896.

Stoltzfus Upgrades Spreader

MORGANTOWN (Berks Co.) — Stoltzfus Spreaders has introduced the model 56i, designed to spread a wide variety of agricultural materials with equal efficiency.

The 56i is built with enough structural strength and durability to spread damp stockpiled lime, and has features which allow farmers to make accurate applications of fertilizer.

An improved tandem wheel ground drive system ensures accurate fertilizer application at rates as low as 100 pounds/acre and as high as 3 tons/acre for lime.

The 56i features walking beam suspension for smoother travel over uneven terrain. The UHMW plastic hopper floor can not corrode or freeze.

Special spread-pattern controls allow farmers to spread on one side only. This increases spreading efficiency by reducing waste while ensuring maximum yields in the headland areas of fields.

For more information, contact Gary Lake, Stoltzfus Spreaders, P.O. Box 527, Morgantown, PA 19543, (800) 843-8731.

Agripro Seeds Joins Helena

SHAWNEE MISSION, Kan. — Agripro Seeds, Inc., formerly AgriPro Biosciences, Inc. (ABI), announces the completion of its purchase by Helena Chemical Company, Memphis, Tenn. Agripro Seeds maintains all its plant breeding, research, and production facilities and joins HyPerformer Seed Company within the Helena organization.

Agripro Seeds, Inc. will continue to serve farmers in the northern U.S., while HyPerformer will operate primarily in the South. In addition, the sales organizations of both companies will cooperate in selling both AgriPro brand and HyPerformer brand seeds beginning this fall.

According to Milton Allen, recently named president of Agripro Seeds, this new relationship with Helena gives Agripro access to additional plant breeding resources, markets, and established distribution channels. At the same time, the acquisition broadens Helena's seed business and product line and positions the company to be a key player in the northern U.S. seed market.

The business office for Agripro Seeds will remain in Mission, Kan., and the company will retain more than 200 employees in 14 locations throughout the U.S.

NEBASA Recognizes Agronomist, Student

NEWARK, Del. — A Delaware extension agronomist and a University of Delaware graduating senior garnered two of the eight awards given this year by the Northeastern Branch of the American Society of Agronomy (NEBASA). The awards are in recognition of exceptional contributions to agronomic science, education, and service.

Dr. Richard W. Taylor won the Extension-Industry Award, which is given to a member who exhibits the ability to inspire others, the skill to lead people to mastery of new and useful agronomic knowledge, and excellence in educational activities.

Taylor, who came to the university in 1985, has developed a multi-disciplinary crop production extension program. His work on the adoption of grain sorghum in Delaware rotations with soybeans has increased profitability and reduced disease and insect problems. He is at work on a plan for poultry manure management combined with agronomic crop production that won't compromise yields or water quality. Taylor created an award-winning series of 32 fact sheets, on soybean production specifically for Delaware and he edits SoyNews, a Delaware Soybean Board quarterly.

Christina M. Hamilton, who received a bachelor's degree in agriculture this spring, is the recipient of the Outstanding Senior Student Award. The award is based on scholarship, leadership, and character and is given to a senior who has declared an interest in the plant and soil sciences.

Hamilton received a degree with distinction, which is earned by a senior who completes an undergraduate research thesis. She will present her findings on the suppression of biological nitrogen fixation in poultry manure-amended soils at the 1994 annual NEBASA meeting.

As a sophomore, Hamilton conducted an independent study on nitrogen and phosphorus availability in composted and pelletized poultry litter. The results of this study were presented at the 1993 NEBASA annual meeting. A manuscript based on her findings will be published in the Journal of Sustainable Agriculture.

Moyer & Son Celebrates 125 Years

SOUDERTON (Montgomery Co.) — When Christian, Jonas, and Enos Moyer first started tending shop in their small feed store in Souderton in 1869, it's unlikely they could have envisioned how their then-modest operation would eventually evolve.

But continued growth became the norm for the Moyer Brothers, who were to gradually acquire larger facilities in order to accommodate their ever-increasing product and service lines.

Today, that same family business is Moyer & Son, now in its fifth generation, with 180 employees — many of whose families have been with the company for generations themselves.

Over the years, Moyer & Son has concentrated on three major areas of operations: fertilizer, feed, and fuel. In 1987, the company purchased the Honey Brook Farm Center in Honey Brook, which enabled it to increase its agricultural capabilities while maintaining a balance of proper nutrient management, field mapping, and other field services for its customers.

This year, Moyer & Son is paying tribute to the thousands of loyal customers it has served over the years. Since its beginnings in 1869, Moyer & Son has recognized that doing business is a two-way street, which is why the business has set out to make service personal.

Moyer & Son commemorates its 125th anniversary by dedicating 1994 to the company's loyal friends and customers.

Tedder Added To Line

GIBSON CITY, Ill. — M&W Gear Company announced the addition of the FT174 hydraulic fold hay tedder to its line of hay equipment.

The FT174 is a four rotor, pull-type tedder driven by 540 RPM PTO power. The folding outer sections can be quickly folded hydraulically and repositioned to change the 17 foot 2 inch working width to a narrow 8 foot 6 inch transport width. The hinged outer sections are each equipped with a gauge wheel to allow even spreading of the crop on uneven ground. Each rotor has six double tine equipped arms.

Operation requires only a 20 HP tractor. Leveling requires only the use of one hand crank. Big 16 inch x 6.50 x 8 inch tires roll over ruts and holes. A slip clutch protects the drive line. For more information, contact M&W Gear Company, 1020 South Sangamon Avenue, Gibson City, IL 60936.

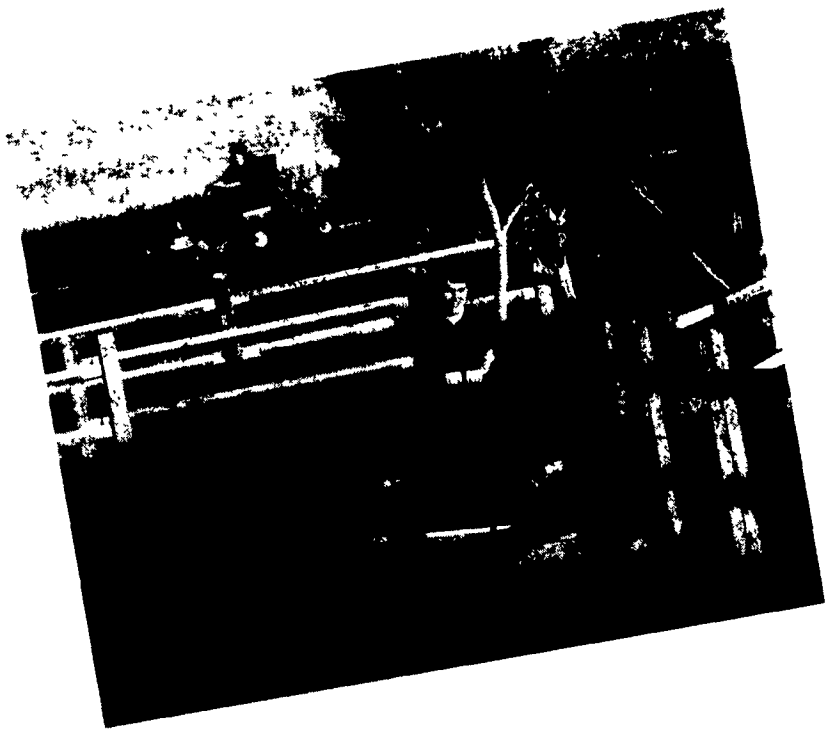
RECREATIONAL VEHICLE.



Mowing the lawn may not be your idea of recreation. But a ride on a Woods Mow'n Machine™ could just change your mind. Because the Mow'n Machine is different from conventional mowers For starters, it has a zero turning radius, so cutting around trees and flower beds is faster and easier than ever What's more, a cushioned seat and convenient controls make the Mow'n Machine more comfortable to operate than most mowers and garden tractors Add heavy-duty construction and a host of attachment options, and you have a year-round productivity tool built to handle everything from turf maintenance to snow removal

Your local dealer can tell you more He can also arrange for you to take a Mow'n Machine for a test spin But be ready Cutting the grass may become your favorite recreational activity

Hastings Receives Distinguished Member Award

NEWARK, Del. — Dr. Steven E. Hastings, a professor in the University of Delaware food and resource economics department, has been named a distinguished member of the Northeastern Agricultural and Resource Economics Association (NAREA).

Dr. Conrado Gempesaw, chair of the department and a member of the association, said, "We are extremely pleased that one of our faculty members received such a prestigious award. It recognizes Dr. Hastings' continuous and outstanding contributions to the association and his profession."

The Distinguished Member Award, one of the highest honors awarded by the association, was first given in 1977. Since then, only 16 other members have received it.

Hastings has served NAREA in various capacities since 1972. His contributions include serving as president, two three-year terms as a member of the executive committee, appointment to the editorial board, chairing the nomination and the finance committees, and a term as secretary-treasurer. Under his leadership the association has grown and its records have been computerized.

Hastings teaches courses in resource economics and rural development. He is an active researcher in these areas and has written many journal articles, experiment station bulletins and book chapters.

As a result of Dr. Hastings' efforts, his department was identified as a key resource unit in computer education at the university. Recently, he planned and supervised the upgrade of the college computer laboratory making it one of the most up-to-date computing facilities at the university.

NAREA honored Dr. Hastings at an awards luncheon on June 28 attended by more than 100 agricultural economists from the northeastern region.

TOWER SILOS:
HIGH PROFIT STORAGE FOR HIGH ENERGY FEEDS
Preserving high energy corn silage is obtained only through efficient, effective storage. Storage that saves the most nutrients. Storage that delivers the highest overall long term benefits. Storage that offers better total performance than any other method of preserving valuable corn silage.
Tower silos control the fermentation process and retain the most feed. With tower silos you'll get better feed...more feed...with lower overall costs and less labor than any other storage method.
"When it comes to high profit storage for high energy feeds, other systems just don't measure up."

CONSIDER THE MANY CONCRETE ADVANTAGES!

"A GOOD JULY RAIN GROWS A LOT OF GRAIN!"

With The Prospect Of A Good Corn Crop, It's Time For Many Producers To Make Decisions Concerning Storage.

16'x68'
about 10,000 bu. cap.
Shelled Corn
Poured Concrete
No Used Silos!
No Rebuilt Silos!
No Preowned Silos!!

In order to avoid hauling and drying costs, let us build a corn storage unit to preserve your valuable grain at 20%-30% moisture.

To keep your stored corn bright and yellow, you must protect it from oxygen and heat. Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-fab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement.

BEFORE SPENDING A LOT OF MONEY FOR ENERGY TO DRY YOUR CORN, YOU WILL DO WELL TO CONSIDER THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF OUR POURED CONCRETE SILOS...

To unload your corn, we can install the simple auger system, the Laidig 43 unloader, or the Flying Dutchman. Let's discuss the options, and what is best for your situation.

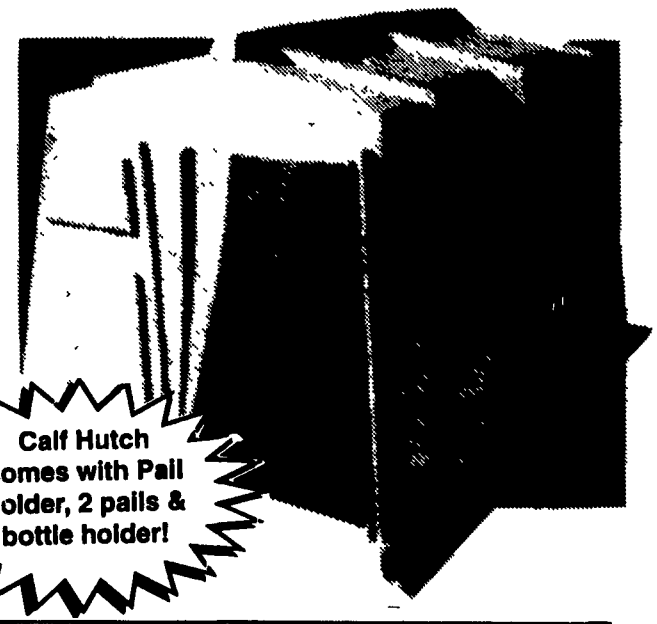
SUPREME CALF HUTCH

J&D MOLDED HIGH DENSITY-POLYETHYLENE CALF HUTCH

J&D Calf Hutches will keep calves drier in the winter, they will stay warmer and start eating at an earlier age. During the warm summer months you can use the standard, adjustable air vent to control the climate in the Calf Hutch. Your calves will be healthier and will grow faster. You may add an out door fence area to the hut.



Calf Hutch comes with Pail holder, 2 pails & bottle holder!

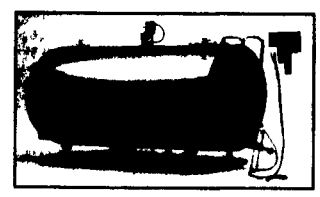
DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Offer

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$26,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

Contact your Mueller distributor for further comparisons.

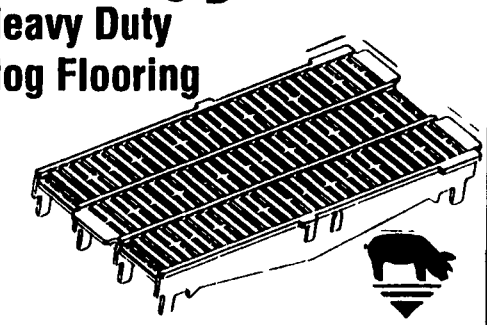
REPLACING HOG FLOORING? CONSIDERING NEW CONSTRUCTION? CHECK OUT Polygrate™

Heavy Duty Hog Flooring



Time Tested and Proven
This style of POLYGRATE was first introduced in 1981. Over the years Farocx has continued to refine this product. POLYGRATE is one of only a few "World Class" floors that has stood this test of time.

Outstanding Traction
POLYGRATE'S unique "high-low" finger design provides outstanding traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort.

- ◆ POLYGRATE'S rounded corners minimize injuries. The edges are beveled providing a smoother, safer surface that promotes comfort, too.

What Does This All Add Up To?
- ◆ More piglets survive until weaning
- ◆ Less splay/spraddle leg problems
- ◆ Heavier piglets at weaning
- ◆ Better conditioned sows at weaning

A LOAD OF MIRACLE BREWERS WET GRAINS . . .LOADS MORE MILK

Have you considered brewers wet grains to give your herd's production a boost? Brewers wet grains from Miracle Feeds are an excellent protein and energy source. They can readily make up to 20-30% of the ration's dry matter. Combined with McNess vitamin and minerals they can provide a very efficient rumen bypass way to feed.

Researchers estimate that between 45-55% of brewers wet grains' protein escapes rumen degradation compared to only 25-30% for soybean meal. This bypass protein is more efficiently digested and absorbed in the cow's small intestine.

For more information on the use of brewers wet grains and other by-products, plus McNess premixes, call toll-free 800-888-0230.

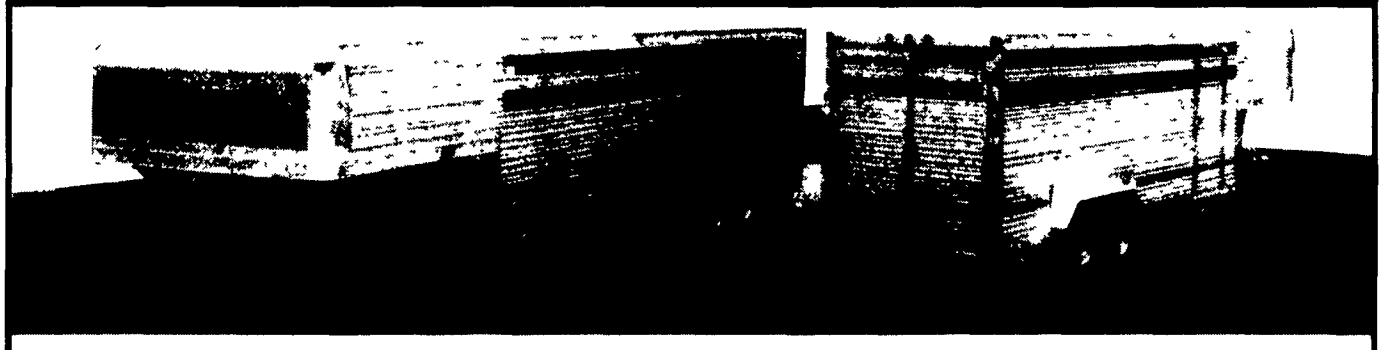
Anything Less Isn't Good Enough



If livestock is your business, Eby Gooseneck Trailers include these features to protect the livestock you transport:
- Durable all-aluminum construction with less weight for more payload
- Axles, wheels, tires and brakes that are designed to carry the weight the trailer will hold
- Gates and doors designed for easy loading/unloading
- Proven post and slat design to control airflow and easily close up for winter conditions
- Aerodynamic design to improve fuel economy

Eby Gooseneck Trailers are available in lengths from 12 to 32 feet with a choice of widths and inside heights. We offer every custom option, including stainless steel front end for great looks.

Whatever kind of livestock you transport, you can rely on EBY products to do the job right.

FISHING...
We sent Mr Haas of our office to check on this new listing last week and he hasn't returned He did call to say "Bring more bait"! Apparently, the fishing is great right from the front yard at the two bedroom cottage. There is a large porch for the perfect spot to watch the sunset over the water. You'll love the warmth of the mountainstone fireplace. Go for walks in the nearby woods, enjoy canoeing from your front lawn, you name the recreation and you will have the perfect spot for fun. It's your opportunity for the good life Located on Penn's Creek, Union County, this cottage had been reduced to $55,900.

GOING TO THE DOGS?
Established boarding and breeding kennel located in Central Pennsylvania This property includes a custom stone home with four bedrooms and two baths on a large lot. Other features include 2 stone fireplaces, family room, custom oak kitchen, inground pool and an orchard Excellent business opportunity with approximately 20 kennel runs

TRANQUILITY BASED
If you are looking for a quiet, relaxing cottage setting to get away for the week or weekend, this is it! Located in Union County, this cottage features three bedrooms, a kitchen with built-in dish washer, and of course, in-door facilities and is heated for year-round use. Guests can stay in the fully equipped mobile home. We didn't forget the horses - they have their own 4-stall barn, with pasture and electric fence! Surrounded by approx 68 acres of woodland, there will be ample room to hunt, or bring your fishing pole - Spruce Run Creek flows through the property. $150,000

Lancaster Exchange Club Hosts Junior Leaders

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County 4-H Exchange Club hosted the Miami County, Kansas junior leaders from June 26 to July 3.

Twelve 4-H members and four chaperones were shown around Lancaster County and the surrounding areas. (This was the second part of an exchange that started last year when Lancaster traveled to Miami County for a week.)

The history of Lancaster County was explained well with a trip to the Lancaster County Museum. Then a tour included the Amish farmland, stopping at the Amish Farm and Home, Kings Crafts to see the trout farm, and the Candle Barn with its Mini zoo.

Kitchen Kettle Village and Park City provided many shopping opportunities for our guests.

The Solanco Community 4-H Club included guests at their monthly meeting, showing them 4-H in action. The club also spent time at Hershey Chocolate, Hershey Park, Herr's Potato Chip, and Root's Farmers Market.

Each family had two "free days" when they planned their own sight-seeing trips. These included Gettysburg Battlefield, The State Capitol, Little Buffalo State Park, the ocean, and local baseball games. The 4-H'ers also enjoyed swimming and miniature golfing.

The most frequent comments about the differences of our counties usually related to our winding roads and hilly landscapes. Also the highways were much more crowded in Pennsylvania. They took pictures of the farmland because they were able to stand in the country and see many farms around them as well as in the distance.

In Kansas you can look toward the horizon and see one or two farms in the distance. The Pennsylvania farmers were busy baling alfalfa grass for hay, while the Kansas farmers were baling prairie grass.

John Scherman explained how they bale their hay into large square bales similar to our round ones in Lancaster. His family farms 2,000 acres compared to the average Lancaster County farm of 100 acres.

Many of the 4-H'ers were anxious to see covered bridges. Lancaster County had many to offer throughout the county. The Amish customs and way of life were fascinating and interesting to all of them.

Lancaster County bank barns and large chicken and swine houses were new to them also. Many of the 4-H'ers raised swine, but on a much smaller scale. Large operations common in Lancaster County are not found in Kansas.

Kansas farm fields are large and square since all the roads are laid out in square miles. Our fields seemed small and any angular shape possible. Towns were miles apart in Kansas. Lancaster County towns are located quite close to each other. They could not believe how close the houses were built to each other and how close to the streets the houses are set.

At the Farewell party, the 4-H club served a pig roast. This also was new to Kansas. They do lots of beef roasts but not pig roasts. Other new foods to the 4-H guests were red beet eggs, whoopie pies, shoofly pie, chocolate shoofly pie, subs, cheese steaks, chicken pot pie, and peanut butter pie.

Reiff, 'Rainbow' Garner Lancaster Market Lamb Champion

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Lisa Reiff paraded her champion light heavyweight market lamb "Rainbow" to grand champion of the Lancaster County 4-H Sheep Show last week at the Lampeter Fairgrounds.

Lisa, 16, daughter of Lloyd and Laura Reiff, Strasburg, sold her 115-pound Suffolk grand champion to Weaver Insurance at the sale for $8 a pound.

At the 4-H sheep show, Brandon Ziegler had the reserve lamb champion, a 105-pound middle weight winner, which sold for $2.70 a pound to Willie the Butcher. Brandon also exhibited the champion lightweight lamb.

Lisa Reiff was also named grand champion showman. Reserve showman was Regina Landis, and Kathy Musser was honored as novice champion.

In other sale results, the 101-pound reserve champion middle weight champion, shown by Kendall Reiff, was sold to Fox's Market for $2.40 a pound.

Allison Hughes showed the reserve champion light heavyweight. Amy Bollinger had the reserve champion heavyweight and Sarah Boyd showed he reserve champion lightweight.

The market lamb sale averaged a record $2.32 a pound for the lambs, with a sale total of $8,373.60.

In the breeding sheep show, Jessica Stoltzfus, Elizabethtown, exhibited the supreme champion ewe, a Dorset yearling ewe. April Lehman showed the champion bred-and-owned ewe.

Carroll County Holds 4-H, FFA Fair

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The Carroll County 4-H and FFA Fair burst into action on Monday, August 1 and ran through Saturday, August 6.

Lines stretched throughout the buildings on Monday as youngsters stood in line to admit their artwork, woodwork, clothing, and field crops.

Booths and banners and natural resource projects began to fill the main building as the day wore on. Ribbons of blue, red and white appeared first, followed by the purple class champions and the larger overall champion and reserve champion rosettes.

A tractor-driving contest began at noon. Then, sheep, swine and beef steer began to arrive. But this was only the beginning.

Monday evening saw the parade and the crowds that followed. The Farm Queen Contest and the Carroll County 4-H Performing Arts Talent Show kept the crowds alive until late in the evening.

Throughout the week, rabbits, poultry, dairy cattle, food, photography and garden exhibits arrived. A mule pull, a horse pull, an antique tractor pull, and an antique horse-drawn carriage show pulled crowds in each night, along with an array of entertainment. There were three bands, a kareoke night, and cow chip bingo. The petting zoo was a hit for the very young, with llamas, goats, sheep, horses and a donkey, rabbits and more. An English and a Western Horse show took place, too.

One of the most well known events at the Carroll County 4-H and FFA Fair and the biggest fundraiser for next year's fair was the annual cake auction, which was held on Wednesday evening, August 3. The event raised $23,850 for the Carroll County Fair Board. One hundred and thirty-nine champion and blue ribbons cakes were raffled off, but it was the grand champion baked item that took the cake. Amanda Tracey of Millers, Maryland baked the blueberry cake using blueberries from 100 or so blueberry bushes in her family's blueberry patch. The cake bought a whopping $1,500 dollarsl and wa spurchased by Franz School Photography.

Explore The Agricultural Roots Of The Big E

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Eastern States Exposition remains true to its agricultural roots, which took hold in 1916 when Joshua L. Brooks founded the West Springfield facility as a showcase for New England farmers.

Decades later, The Big E proudly continues the tradition by presenting the finest agriculture and livestock contests as well as educational exhibits which help to take the mystery out of agriculture for fairgoers. The 73rd edition of "New England's Great State Fair" takes place Sept. 16 - Oct. 2.

The Big E boasts the largest livestock show in New England, traditional and modern farming demonstrations, plenty of agricultural exhibits and contests, and many interesting displays, all on the grounds of Eastern States Exposition.

• Barn Tours, "The Original," sponsored by Freihofer's. Fairgoers may learn "fun facts" about agriculture and livestock by taking a free Barn Tour, sponsored by Freihofer's. Professional agricultural experts show fairgoers around Mallary Complex, Young Building and Farm-a-Rama, giving them a unique look behind the scenes of livestock areas and agricultural exhibits. Tours leave several times a day from under the rotunda of Mallary Complex from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

• The Big E Livestock Shows. Continuous livestock shows and competitions will be held for beef and dairy cattle, sheep, goats, llamas and swine. The Draft Horse Show will be held Sept. 28 - 29 in the Coliseum; the 4-H Horse Show will take place Sept. 23 - 25; pulling contests include an oxen pull, Sept. 26 and a horse pull, Sept. 27. The newest livestock event at this year's Big E is the Simmental Beef Show, a breed of beef cattle, which takes place Friday, Sept. 16 at 2 p.m. Special livestock events include the Northeast Fall National Holstein Show, for the first time at The Big E, Sept. 22 at 9 a.m.; and the Eastern Regional Jersey Show, Sept. 27 at 8 a.m.

The Eastern States Exposition Sheep Show will feature antique sheep shearing demonstrations, sheep dog herding and a sheep's wool spinning bee. Special events this year include the National Montadale Shhow, Sept. 17 at 1:30 p.m.; New England and Atlantic Coast Regional Columbia Show, Sept. 24 at 1 p.m.; National Tunis Show, Sept. 26, at 1 p.m.; and the Regional Cotswold Show, a new breed of sheep, Sept. 28 at 9 a.m.

The open Llama Show takes place Friday, Sept. 30 - Sunday, Oct. 2. Several events, including new additions of the Fashionable Camelild Fiber Show and Golden Lead Class, take place throughout the three-day show. There will also be an Egg and Spoon Race Sunday, Oct. 2 and the popular Llama Costume Class takes place the final day of the event.

• The giant pumppkin and squash contests and best decorated pumpkin contest, sponsored by New Milford Farms, will take place in Mallary Complex at 10 a.m. Sept. 16. Cash prizes for adults and savings bonds, bowls and ribbins for children will be awarded for the largest pumpkins and squash and for the best decorated pumpkins. Pumpkins weighing more than 400 pounds may also win cash prizes in the "Realy Big" Pumpkin Weigh-In, also sponsored by New Milford Farms, Sept. 23 in Mallary Complex at 10 a.m. The top ten entries from all contests will be displayed in the Farm-A-Rama building throughout the fair.

• Farm-A-Rama - Entertainment for all ages is plentiful at Farm-A-Rama, one of the most popular family attractions each year at The Big E. Fairgoers find prizewinning produce, demonstrations by area farmers and many horticulture and agriculture exhibits. One of the most popular attractions is the baby chick hatchery, where fairgoers can watch as baby chicks emerge from their shells and begin life every day. Members of FFA will demonstrate aquaculture, the harvest of underwater animals and plants and display horticulture and landscaping exhibits. Fairgoers may also learn about ostriches, emus, and rheas at the brand-new ratite display in the popular building.

Farm-A-Rama is also home to the Hallamore Clydesdales, eight colossal draft horses which inspire jaw-droping reactions as fairgoers lilne up to witness the long process of preparing these huge animals for their appearance in the Daily Parade. Interesting farm and exotic animals can also be seen in Farm-A-Rama.

• The 1994 Christmas Tree Show and competition will take place Friday, Sept. 16. Although the winter holidays seem far away, the show will provide information on how to pick a tree and give fairgoers a chance to "show what they know" in mock tree judging contests. Trees will remain on display for the remainder of the fair.

Burkholder Dairy Joins ABS Program

DeFOREST, Wis. — David Burkholder, Shippensburg, Pa., recently joined the American Breeders Service (ABS) Progency Test (PT) program.

The PT program enables test herds, such as the Burkholder herd, to use semen from young, unproven ABS sires. In return, these test herds provide ABS with information about the offspring from these young bulls.

After supplying ABS with this information, Burkholder will receive compensation for each ABS-PT calf born and for each ABS-PT daughter included on the sire's second USDA summary.

The program's goal is to have each progeny-tested young sire graduate the program with a highly-reliable sire summary, while giving test herds the opportunity to use the genetics of tomorrow—today. This program is unique because it gives test herds the option to choose which bulls they would like to use from a large selection of young ABS-PT sires.

Since genetic evaluations rely on the data supplied by PT herds, ABS screens potential herds carefully before adding them to the program. The Burkholder herd was selected based on superior management practices, efficient record-keeping, and accurate animal identification.

Producers interested in more information about the ABS Progeny Test program should contact their local ABS Representative or call 800-ABS-STUD.

CLAAS® Rollant round balers give you what you want

—one quality round bale after another.

Discover Quality...Discover Value...

The Rollant 66 makes fast work of 4'x5' bales. Its unique two-stage pick-up and close tines produce a clean, efficient harvest in less time. Rollatex netting wraps a bale in 10 seconds or less, and double-twine wraps it up in just 20.

The Rollant 46 introduced CLAAS's innovative fixed bale chamber to the marketplace. This versatile baler handles all farm operations from dry hay to silage. Nobody produces a better 4'x4' bale.

The Rollant 42 was designed for family livestock operations. This economical investment produces weather-tight 4'x4' bales for the highest nutrient content possible.

CLAAS bales mean nutrient-filled edible hay, low spoilage, and high crude protein retention.

Each Rollant offers the innovative chamber, low-profile pick-up, and world class dependability. And they all share CLAAS's international reputation for low maintenance, durability and long-life.

Call now to see how you can improve the round figures on your bottom line.

1. Axial Flow Combines Reconditioned by Hoober's Repair Specialists go to the field and work. 5,000 plus hours does not mean WORN OUT.
2. Axial Flow Combines Reconditioned by Hoober's Repair Specialists are sold with warranty through the 1994 Harvest Season.
3. (in most cases) Axial Flow Combines can be upgraded to the latest technologies (Specialty Rotors; Cross Flow Fan)
4. An Axial Flow Combine purchased from Hoober is backed by (6) Factory Trained Combine Service Specialists and the largest Combine Parts inventory East of Ohio.

Large Selection of Case IH, IH and John Deere Corn Heads & Planters

SPECIAL COMBINE FINANCING (for Approved Credit) - 5.9% for 48 or 60 Months Depending on The Amount Financed with CASE Credit.

GARRETT IS BIG ON AG TURBOS

PLOW BIG SAVINGS ON GENUINE GARRETT TURBOS

Don't miss this opportunity to plow some big savings on Genuine Garrett Factory Remanufactured turbochargers. Your Authorized Garrett Distributor Penn Diesel Service should have a turbocharger or cartridge that fits your tractor, combine, or other farm equipment. If it's a turbocharged Ag engine, there's most likely a Garrett turbo on it. Look at the following list of OE's. There's a reason why they specify Garrett turbochargers for their engines.

- Allis Chalmers
- Deutz Allis
- Fiat Allis
- Ford
- International Harvester
- J.I. Case
- John Deere
- Massey Ferguson
- Navistar
- Perkins

For those same reasons, when it's time for a replacement trubo, it's time for Genuine Garrett. All Genuine Garrett turbochargers are remanufactured to original equipment specifications at the Garrett factory. It's your assurance of original equipment quality and performance with a warranty that matches the new turbo Genuine Garrett turbochargers are remanufactured with this same high quality parts as new and reengineered for the most recent upgrades and refinements to maintain the exact performance charactenstics into the original turbo For more information on Genuine Garrett Factory Reman Turbos, see your local Garrett Distributor or call or write:

JOHN DEERE

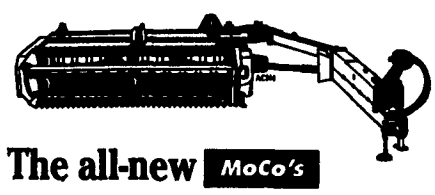
NOBODY DOES HAY BETTER



The all-new MoCo's

- An all-new three-point suspension system provides unmatched flotation.
- Redesigned guards and a 5-bar reel help the all-new sickleber machine cut better – and six inches wider – than anything in it's class.
- Two new rotary disk models feature the all-new, John Deere-built modular cutterbar It's stronger than anything else on the market.
- An exclusive Power-Cushion helps prevent the driveline from bottoming out during tight turns.

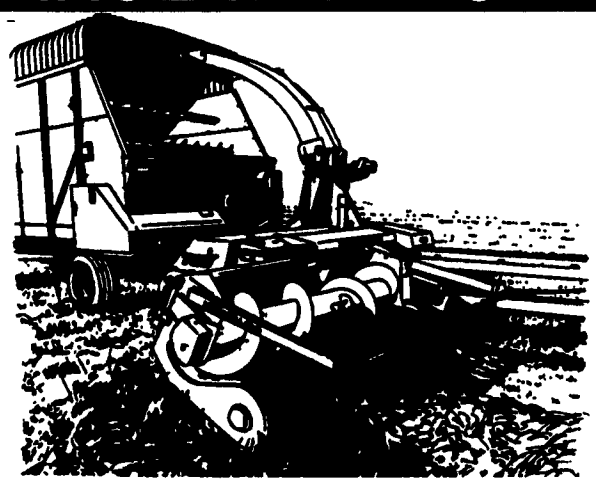
FORAGE HARVESTERS



HARVEST AT PEAK QUALITY

New Holland forage harvesters are rugged and dependable. Ready to go when you are so you can be sure to harvest your crop on time. And, you get high-quality feed thanks to the rugged, 12-knife cutterhead. It delivers a fine, uniform chop for the best quality feed.

Take a look at the harvesters that are ready when you are.

WHIRL-A-FEED®

SAVE TIME AT THE SILO

Increase your productivity with a Model 40 forage blower. The Whirl-A-Feed® table breaks up clumps and spins crop into the blower at high speed. This means less drag on the fan and more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower.

Stop by and learn more about the Model 40.

Level your fields without leveling your combine.

The brilliantly simple Dynamic Hillside Compensation System, optional on MF 8400 conventional combines, gives you "flat land" performance on slopes up to 20 degrees. All automatically. And all at a surprisingly low cost. Stop in today for all the details.

Without Hillside System, crops overload the lower side of the sieve, causing high losses and low sample quality.

THE CLAAS HARVESTER

MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from corn it is vital to crack every kernel Digestion of uncracked corn falls as the corn becomes drier Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable. The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

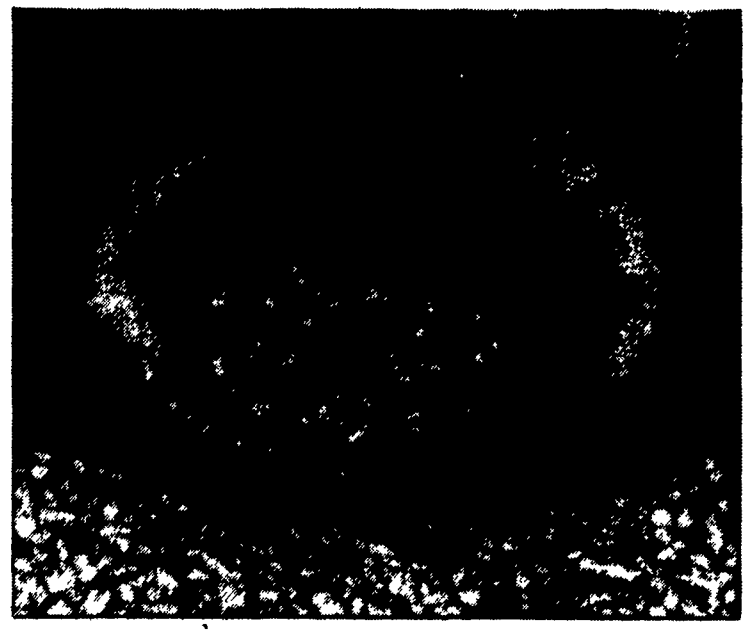
PURINA

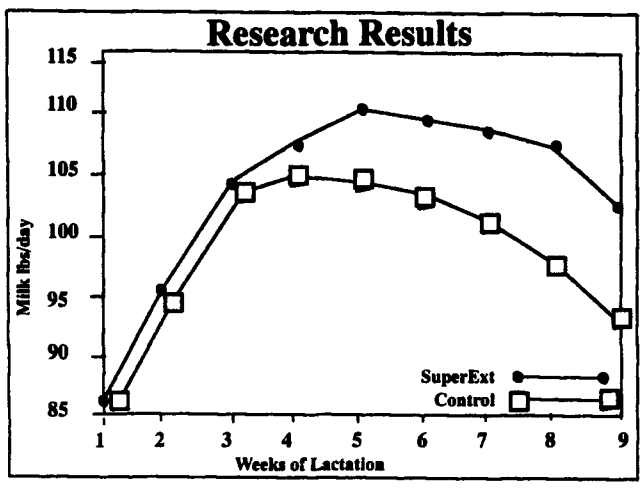
SUPER-EXT



A dairy feed that could make your cows more productive, while also improving their feed conversion and breeding efficiency.

SUPER-EXT is a blend of high fat nuggets and pellets specially designed and manufactured by Purina to deliver feed quality, nutrient density and super palatability. The nutrient-rich blend is placed with complete nutrition and is highly palatable.

In field trials, cows fed SUPER-EXT produced an average of 6.7 pounds more milk per cow per day, while improving or maintaining milk composition. And while porduction increased, the cows that were fed SUPER-EXT maintained or improved their body-condition scores after freshening and were more-feed efficient.



Research Results
	Milk	Milk lbs/day	Milk Protein lbs/day
Control Average Production	100	3.24	2.83
Super-Ext Average Production	107	3.47	2.86
Average Improvement Per Cow	+7	+.23	+.03

Consider All The Benefits Of SUPER-EXT

- Increased milk production
- Good milk composition
- Good body condition
- Improved feed efficiency
- Improved breeding efficiency
- More income opportunity!

CALVES AND HEIFERS

Are you raising high quality replacement heifers? Producers should incorporate these practices and guidelines into their herd replacement programs:

1. Force-feed high quality colostrum to calves immediately after birth. Feed no hay or forages for the first two months of life. Provide calves water, even when milk is being fed.

2. Follow a Purina heifer program that will provide growth rates of 1.8 pounds per day. Heifers will calve by 24 months of age, at 54 inch wither heights, weighing 1200 lbs AFTER calving.

3. Evaluate whether your first lactation heifers are "keeping up" with older cows. DHIA records are a valuable tool to allow evaluation. Peak milk production of first, second, and third + lactation animals is one measure to watch. Also evaluate 305-day M.E. (mature equivalent) of all age groups. Persistency of heifers should be higher than that of cows.

Heifers that calve at low body weight and small frame size will not "keep up" with older cows. Milk production across the herd will be reduced, along with efficiency of production and profitability.
